No definition, can't bar parties for hate speech: ECI

The poll watchdog's counter-affidavit to the Supreme Court points out that even the Law Commission ducked the exercise to define it

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India has told the Supreme Court that it doesn't have the legal power to de-recognise political parties or de-register candidates for 'hate speech'.

Pointing out that hate speech has not been defined under any existing law in India, the poll body said in its affidavit, "In the absence of any specific law governing 'hate speech' and 'rumour mongering' during elections, the Election Commission of India employs various provisions of IPC and the RP Act, 1951 to ensure of that members of political parties or even other persons do not make statements to the effect of creating disharmony between different sections of society."

The ECI's counter-affidavit was in response to a plea by BJP leader Ashwini Upadhyay seeking directions to the Centre to take measures to curb hate speech. ECI's affidavit pointed out that in the case of Pravasai Bhilai Sanghatan Vs Union of India (2014), the Supreme Court referred the question of whether the ECI should be conferred the power to re-recognise a political party or disqualify its members for hate speech, to the Law Commission of India. The SC also asked the Law Commission to define hate speech and make recommendations to Parliament to curb the menace but the Commission's 267th Report did not answer the court's question, the affidavit pointed out.

The ECI said it has made amendments to the Model Code of Conduct and whenever it learns about a candidate or an agent indulging in hate speech, it takes strict note and issues show-cause notice.

In its affidavit, the poll body said that it has prepared a list of do's and don'ts to be followed by political parties and contesting candidates during elections. "The Election Commission of India has further directed that this be given the widest possible publicity in the official language of the State and its contents brought to the knowledge of all candidates and political parties," the affidavit read.

Chose Guj on professional advice, says Vedanta boss

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN a bid to douse the political fire over Vedanta's last-minute decision to shift its ₹1.5 lakh crore semiconductor project to Gujarat, the conglomerate's chairman Anil Agarwal took to Twitter on Wednesday to defend his decision. In a series of tweets, Agarwal said Vedanta and Foxconn were professionally assessing sites for a multi-billion dollar investment. He claimed this is a scientific and financial process which typically takes several years.

"We started this about two years ago. Our team of internal and external professional agencies shortlisted a few states — Gujarat, Karnataka, Maharashtra, TN etc to help achieve our purpose. For the last 2 years we have been engaging with each of these govts as well as central govt & have received fantastic support," he tweeted.

He said the company had decided on Gujarat a few months ago as the state met expectations. "We have to start in one place, and based on professional and independent advice we chose Gujarat," he said, adding that the Maharashtra government had also approached the company with a very competitive offer in a bid to outbid other states.

According to him, the multi-billion-dollar long-term project will change the course of Indian electronics. "We will create a pan-India ecosystem & are fully committed to investing in Maharashtra as well. Maharashtra will be our key to forward integration in our Gujarat JV," said Agarwal.

STATE GOVT TO TABLE BILL ON MAKING KANNADA COMPULSORY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH an aim to make use of Kannada language mandatory in the state, the government has decided to table a Bill in the ongoing session of the legislature, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai told the state assembly on Wednesday. The proposed Kannada Language Comprehensive Development Bill aims to introduce Kannada as the medium of instruction in schools and colleges and to create job reservation for Kannadigas in the government and private sectors.

The CM made the announcement after JDS members staged a protest against the imposition of Hindi language on Wednesday which was also observed as Hindi Divas across the country. The CM said no one can insist on imposition of any language in the state besides Kannada and even Prime Minister Narendra Modi has told that all regional languages are national languages.

"Our government is not just committed to safeguarding Kannada, but also to promoting it. In Karnataka, when it comes to land, water, language and people, we have kept politics aside and taken a collective decision even in the past." he said. The CM said there have been demands for making Kannada mandatory all these years. P4

Cong Chhodo, BJP Jodo Yatra in Goa as 8 MLAs defect to the ruling party

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAKING a complete mockery of their party's Bharat Jodo Yatra and calling themselves part of the Congress Chhodo, BJP Jodo Yatra instead, as many as eight of the total 11 MLAs in Goa Congress on Wednesday defected to the ruling party in the state.

The defectors included heavyweights like former chief minister Digambar Kamat and Congress Legislative Party (CLP) leader Michael Lobo.

The day began with Lobo calling a meeting of the CLP and adopting a resolution to merge with the BJP. The eight rebels attended the meeting. Three MLAs who skipped it and did not switch sides are Yuri Alemao, Altone D'Costa and Carlose Alvares Ferreira.

The rebels managed to duck the anti-defection law as their count was more than two-thirds of the total CLP strength (11x2/3 = 7.33).

It's Op Kichad: Jairam

"Operation Kichad of BJP in Goa has been fast tracked because of the visible success of the Bharat Jodo Yatra. BJP is nervous," Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh tweeted

Lobo, then, wrote to the secretary of the Goa Assembly announcing the merger.

Grinning from ear to ear, Chief Minister Pramod Sawant said, "We had been waiting for this day for a long time." Sources said three ministers in the state would be asked to resign to accommodate the Congress rebels in the ministry.

Kamat claimed the decision to join the BJP was taken years ago, but circumstances forced them to wait till this day. Reminded about their oath and prayer at a holy place vowing not to leave the Congress ahead of the Assembly elections, Kamat cheekily said he went back to God, briefed him about the current situation in the party and asked him what to do.

"God told me to go ahead, I'm with you. Therefore, today, I left the Congress and joined the BJP as per God wish," Kamat quipped. In January, they had taken the loyalty pledge at a temple, church and dargah in Goa ahead of the elections.

Lobo claimed he had the BJP along with his wife to ensure the smooth functioning of the state government.

Lokayukta to have addl registrar, cabinet decides

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State Cabinet on Wednesday approved the appointment of an additional registrar for Karnataka Lokayukta, besides filling vacancies to ensure speedy trial of cases by the investigative agency. The decision comes weeks after the state's Anti Corruption Bureau (ACB) was scrapped by the Karnataka High Court and all the cases being probed by the ACB were transferred to the Lokayukta. The Lokayukta had sought additional staff to deal with the increased burden of cases. The Cabinet also took a decision to increase the salary of the Lokayukta on par with the salary of the Chief Justice of Karnataka.

Among other decisions, the Cabinet gave its nod for a revised estimation of Rs 862.37 crore allocation to complete the construction of warehouses and to strengthen infrastructure. The project has been taken up by the Karnataka State Warehousing Corporation.

The Cabinet decided to extend the lease period of government-run Kannada medium schools in Bengaluru which are housed in private buildings. Under the Centre's Jal Jeevan Mission, approval was given for the implementation of drinking water projects in Periyapatna at a cost of Rs 350 crore, Sagara (Rs 127 cr), Belagavi and Ramadurga (Rs 439 cr), K R Nagara (Rs 12.74 cr) and Nippani (Rs 49 cr) taluks.

The Cabinet also approved Rs 26.21 crore for the construction of a Railway Over Bridge (ROB) between Hospet-Karigannur stations on Hubballi-Ballari route and Rs 41.59 crore for a Railway Under Bridge (RUB) between Dharwad-Kyarakoppa on Hubballi-Londa route.

SC clears decks for Ganguly, Shah for 2nd innings

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

AFTER a long legal battle, the BCCI on Wednesday was allowed to tweak its constitution to pave the way for its president Sourav Ganguly and secretary Jay Shah to continue in office for another term of three years. The Supreme Court gave the board permission to rework the clause in its constitution that prevented them from continuing in office without a mandatory cooling-off period.

Terming the provision of office-bearers requiring to undergo cooling-off period after completing one term of three years in a state association and one term (3 years) in BCCI as stringent, bench of justices D Y Chandrachud and Hima Kohli accepted BCCI's plea to waive the clause.

The SC also said the cooling-off period would now apply after two consecutive terms of three years in office in either state unit or in the BCCI. This means that an office-bearer in a state unit will have to undergo cooling-off if the person continues in the state unit but not if he/she moves to the BCCI.

"Bearing in mind the purpose for which the cooling-off was included, we are of the considered view that proposed amendment would not dilute the object and purpose of introducing cooling-off period with the result that cooling-off will come to effect once a candidate has completed two consecutive terms in the BCCI and the state association. We therefore accept the proposed amendment," the court said in its order.

The bench also accepted the amendment for not disqualifying a person who holds any office or post in any federation apart from cricket from being an office bearer.

Hit by bus, boy walks to school, dies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AT 9.05 am on Wednesday, a 7-year-old boy was hit by a school bus. He was attended to, and offered water, after which he walked to his school. While sitting in the classroom, he collapsed and the teachers who rushed to his aid, observed swelling on his head. The boy, Nitish Kumar, was rushed to a nearby hospital and from there to another hospital. Nitish succumbed to his injuries during treatment at the hospital around 10.45 am.

Nitish is the son of Rajesh and Priya, residents of Munekolalu. The tragic turn of events that led to the boy's death has baffled many. The driver of a private school bus stopped the vehicle after it hit the boy. He gave the boy water to drink and after noticing that Nitish was talking normally, the driver, Vittal, left the place.

The hospital informed the jurisdictional HAL traffic police. Police seized the school bus and arrested the driver.

Dasara jumbo delivers calf at palace; none knew of pregnancy

B K LAKSHMIKANTHA @ Mysuru

TWENTY-one-year-old cow elephant Lakshmi, who is part of a herd of 14 elephants being trained for Dasara Jamboo Savari, was heavily pregnant, and delivered a healthy calf on Tuesday night. But the shocker is that neither the forest department officials and veterinarians nor the mahouts even suspected that she was pregnant until just a few hours before she delivered in the Mysuru Palace premises.

Despite much care and nutrition being given to the 14 elephants being trained for the Dasara Jamboo Savari in Mysuru, forest officials, veterinarians and mahouts failed to realise that one of them was heavily pregnant and subjected to arduous physical training and cannon firing.

Lakshmi was brought to Dasara for the first time in 2017, but she had panicked during the cannon firing and had to be pulled out of the jumbo procession.

Lakshmi's pregnancy went undetected despite the much-publicized care, nutrition and medical attention given to these elephants ahead of the world-famous event scheduled on October 5.

The pregnancy gestation period in elephants is 18-21 months, and wildlife activists have slammed the foresters and mahouts for their negligence in bringing Lakshmi almost at the end of her gestation period to subject her to training since August 7 when she was brought to Mysuru in the first batch of nine jumbos for the training.

It was only on Tuesday afternoon at around 12.30 pm that the mahouts and kavadis noticed changes in Lakshmi's behaviour, which showed discomfort. They informed the foresters and veterinarian who rushed to the spot and conducted a medical checkup. It was then that they suspected that Lakshmi might be pregnant and was suffering from labour pain.

The foresters collected her urine and faeces samples and sent it to a lab in Hyderabad for detecting pregnancy. Meanwhile, they shifted the elephant to a separate enclosure near Brahmapuri Gate of Mysuru Palace and monitored her health and behavior by restricting public entry.

According to BBMP, there were four obstructions on SyNo 81 and 82 of Singapore Layout, in Kuvempu Nagar ward.

Similarly, two encroachments were cleared in West Zone, of which a total of 240sqm, including 120sqm of vacant land and 120sqm of railway land at Baragi Muddenahalli in Subashnagar, were taken into possession.

BBMP officials said only compound walls and gates of homes and apartments are being removed, and asked the inmates to vacate in a week's time so they can complete the demolition.

In Bellandur ward, Nalapad Academy in Challaghatta also came under JCBs for the second day. BBMP Assistant Engineer Srinivasulu told TNIE that the encroached section is 2.5m wide and 150m long, and 60 per cent of the drive was complete. The property is owned by Congress MLA NA Haris, whose son and Youth Congress President Mohammed Nalapad had staged a protest on the streets of Mahadevapura, after parts of Bengaluru were flooded due to heavy rain. ## Cooperate with each other: Lokayukta to Bagmane, BBMP

BENGALURU: Observing that officials have to act in accordance with law to remove encroachments on storm water drains, Lokayukta Justice BS Patil advised both BBMP and Bagmane Development Pvt Ltd to cooperate with each other in the ongoing BBMP demolition drive. Bagmane had approached the Lokayukta to restrain the Palike from taking coercive action in clearing encroachments on their premises. It is said that the Lokayukta called the BBMP engineer and joint commissioner and conducted an inquiry. Considering the contention of both the parties, the Lokayukta said the BBMP has made a responsible statement saying it will follow the High Court direction before demolishing any encroached portion. The matter was adjourned to October 11, 2022. The BBMP surveyed Bagmane Tech Park on Wednesday. A report will be prepared and further action will be taken.

Encroachment by Nalapad Academy, Bagmane will be demolished: BBMP chief

ENS @ Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Wednesday said that portions of properties which stand on storm water drains, lakes and buffer zones will be demolished, irrespective of the names of the organisations which own them or their financial status.

On the question of the status of Bagmane Tech Park, and why nothing had been done about it, he said that a wall has been constructed on the drain passing through that tech park, Purvanakara Ridge Park and another apartment complex. Bagmane contented that if the wall is demolished, water would gush into the property, so they be allowed to do the work and the BBMP could survey it, he said. "To this, we have replied that we will do the survey, we will demolish the wall and clear the encroachment as per measurements. We have acted as per High Court orders and notices will also be served to all the three listed," he said.

BBMP conducted the survey and measurements, which commenced on Wednesday morning and was completed by the evening. The demolition will start soon.

With regard to Nalapad Academy, Girinath said demolition has not stopped. Based on surveyors' directions, work is being executed. There are encroachments in several parts of the city, but the initial focus is on Mahadevapura zone, Koramanagala and Challaghatta valley, where there was flooding.

NO QUESTION OF SPARING ANYONE, WILL ACT AGAINST ALL: CM

Responding to former CM HD Kumaraswamy's accusations against the state government for alleged mismanagement of Bengaluru's infrastructure, resulting in flooding, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that Bengaluru East had grown exponentially, with many IT-BT companies setting shop there. "Nonetheless, if their buildings have come up on storm water drains, they will be razed. The state government will follow all the procedures. There is no question of sparing anyone. We will take action," he said.

Trilok: We won't stop till all drains are cleared

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

WITH the BBMP carrying out the encroachment clearance drive for the third consecutive day on Wednesday, and amidst alleged reports of the Palike targeting only the middle- and upper-classes, while sparing certain 'big names' in the list, Special Commissioner and Mahadevapura Zone in-charge Dr K V Trilok Chandra said the Palike will go ahead based on the High Court's order on encroachment -- of storm water drains, lakes, buffer zones and land survey report by the revenue department marked for clearance of obstruction.

Clarifying that the BBMP is not involving in any selective drive, he said, "BBMP engineers have been deployed, and are going ahead with the drive as per the markings done by surveyors of the Revenue Department on storm water drain encroachment." To a question on big names in the list of storm water drain encroachment not being touched, he clarified, "We are first focusing on 'important ones'. We are ensuring the connectivity to lakes is restored through drains."

METRO PHASE-3 TO COST ₹16,333 CRORE WHEN READY IN 2028

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) submitted the Detailed Project Report (DPR) for Phase-3 to the state government on Monday, for its consent. The 44.65-km project will have six interchange points and the cost is expected to escalate to Rs 16,333 crore in 2028, when it is expected to be ready, sources said.

The route of the elevated project, with a total of 31 stations, will run thus: Corridor One for 32.15 km from J P Nagar IVth Phase to Kempapura; and Corridor Two for 12.5 km from Hosahalli to Kadabgere on Magadi Road, with nine stations.

Confirming to TNIE, BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez said the issues pertaining to the two portions, where the intersection happens with the BBMP flyovers, have been sorted out.

Specifying details, a source said, "There were two locations where BBMP planned to build flyovers, but is yet to start the work. BMRCL will be building them instead. One is at the junction between Kanakapura Road and Sarakki Junction, for a distance of 1.36 km, and another at the junction between Kamakhya Ittamedu and Hoskarahalli, for a distance of 1.56 km."

To avoid any issues in future, BMRCL has decided to construct integrated flyovers at both locations. "BBMP will hand over a total of Rs 270 crore it had earmarked for the two flyovers to us. BMRCL will build the flyover at one level above the ground and the Metro line will come up at the second level," he explained.

The present estimate drawn for the project as per 2022 rates is Rs 13,185 crore. "Due to inflation and overall escalation of costs, it is expected to cost Rs 16,333 crore in six years time, when it approaches its deadline for operations," another source said.

Giving details on the interchange points proposed, a source said that five of the interchanges will happen on Corridor One.

"At JP Nagar IVth Phase station and at Kempapura, we will have interchange stations where two Metro lines would meet. There will be three foot over bridges which will intersect with stations bearing the same name built on other lines in the vicinity - JP Nagar station, Mysore Road and Peenya." An FOB will come up on Corridor Two at Hosahalli alone.

BMRCL REQUESTS ADB TO CONSIDER FUNDING PHASE-3

A team from Asian Development Bank (ADB) visited the city last week to review the progress of Metro projects. ADB had inked an agreement to provide $500 million for the Airport Line (K R Puram to Kempegowda International Airport). "We have already withdrawn $80 million dollars to carry out the work and will be withdrawing up to $100 million by December," BMRCL MD Anjum Parwez said. "We have also asked them to consider funding our Phase-3 project," he added.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

15TH September: It's a Leo nine day, so time for all of us to take a bit of pride in ourselves. Leo people are favoured, but I see no reason why the rest of us can't hitch ourselves to their coat-tails, sharing in their confidence, creativity and general ability to make the most of themselves. My one word of cautious advice at a time like this is to take extra care to avoid pointless disagreements.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
I have no doubt that the past few weeks have been slightly unsettling. I suspect, though, that it's next week's developments which will show the way the wind is blowing. You'll feel happier once the path ahead is clear, but you may not be able to wait until absolutely everything is certain.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Finances may be hanging a little too heavily over your head at the moment. If possible, do talk to others about your plans and thoughts for the future. Remember the old saying that a problem shared is usually halved. At least, let's hope that it's not doubled!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You are definitely in the mood to fight for your rights at the moment. Don't let anyone take you for a ride, but don't be mean, either. Nobody will think the worse of you if you are gullible or easily deceived. The only real risk is that you might feel embarrassed!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You'll need to keep your feet firmly planted on the ground if you're going to face intricate and intensely emotional situations stirred up by that energetic planet Mars in an acutely sensitive zone of your chart. You'll be looking for outlets for your adventurous aspirations.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
With each day that passes you are coming closer to the solution of a complicated problem. The only question I must ask is whether you are really ready for the answer, and will you recognise the truth when you see it? Perhaps it will be a close partner who notices when the time is right.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
A fluid Moon keeps your emotions to the fore and it's no use sticking to the letter of the law. If I were you, I'd judge each case purely according to the most compassionate and humanitarian considerations. The more you give, then the more you're likely to receive.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The chimes of freedom are ringing out, but I must remind you of the old cliché that prisoners are often lost without their chains. Are you ready to take that leap into the unknown which is symbolised by this week's remarkable alignments? You've got until next week to make up your mind.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
While it's true that your stars are generally auspicious, at least in daily terms, weekly indications suggest that you may shoot yourself in the foot. It's strange just how many ways you find to undermine your confidence! Snap out of it, and look after yourself!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
If you're holding out for a better deal, you must reckon on the fact that people and circumstances over which you have little or no control may dilute your will and set up all sorts of red herrings. What you've got to do is keep your eye on the ball: when it moves, you move!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Someone may ruffle your feathers, but then that's nothing new. What could be different this time, though, is your response. Have you thought, for example, that it may be you who has misunderstood people in authority, such as employers, rather than the other way round?

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Old and half-forgotten memories are apt to creep back, and you may be feeling nostalgic. Yet if your thoughts and habits are dominated by the past, you may miss a personal opportunity, perhaps one that has foreign connections or far-sighted implications.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Jupiter, planet of growth, optimism and expansion, is joined to your chart in an emotional umbilical cord. Right now, this potent celestial force is channelling a great deal of optimism in your direction. Use it wisely and don't jump the gun. A little wisdom now will save you a huge headache later.

HC STAYS CID PROBE AGAINST MANTRIS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday stayed criminal proceedings being investigated by the CID against Mantri Developers Private Limited, its director Sushil P Mantri, and his son and former director Prateek Mantri.

Justice M Nagaprasanna stayed the proceedings after hearing the petition filed by Sushil and Prateek Mantri. The charges was registered by Cubbon Park police in response to a complaint filed by Anil Kumar, a home buyer of Mantri Webcity Project, on March 19, 2022, and was later transferred to CID.

The petitioners approached the High Court, challenging the charges registered against them, including cheating. Offences under Banning of Unregulated Deposit Schemes Act (BUDS Act) were also invoked against them, and investigation was under way.

Sushil and Prateek Mantri were arrested at their Mantri Altius residence on Raj Bhavan Road on September 9, by a CID team.

The petitioners contended that there was a stay on the identical charges already registered by the customers for allegedly not giving possession of apartment units in Mantri Webcity Project. It was brought to the notice of the CID sleuths, but they did not consider it and arrested them, they claimed.

Their petition stated that the project had suffered a lag due to several reasons, including the pandemic and slump in the real estate market. Though the project has around 2,000 customers, a handful of them had started to bring coercive pressure on the promoters by demanding huge interest, compensation and extra benefits on account of the delay. The petitioners claimed that a few customers who had not even booked flats were trying to extort money, and when their illegal demands were dismissed, they had provoked some customers to file false complaints before RERA.

Woman kills teen son, ends life over dowry plaint against her

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengalru

A 48-year-old woman and her 13-year-old son were found hanging from the window of their house at Hosaguddadahalli in Byatarayanapura police station limits. The incident came to light on Wednesday morning. The woman is suspected to have killed her son before ending her own life. A dowry complaint registered against the woman by her sister-in-law is suspected to be the reason behind the incident.

The victims are Lakshmamma and her son Madan, a Class 6 student. The woman is said to have made a video mentioning the reasons which drove her to suicide.

Lakshmamma had a younger brother Sidde Gowda with a low intelligence quotient. She was instrumental in finding a girl, identified as Ranjitha, for her brother and got them married. Lakshmamma is said to have spent nearly Rs 50000 at the time of the wedding.

"Both Gowda and Ranjitha had frequent fights after their wedding. Ranjitha had filed a dowry harassment case against her husband and his family, including Lakshmamma, in Mandya. The complaint was registered against nine persons. Lakshmamma's husband Shivalinge Gowda was also one of the accused.

After the complaint, Lakshmamma is said to have been upset over legal issues and is suspected to have ended her life," said the police.

She has also named a few people in the video blaming them responsible for her death. The bodies were shifted to Victoria hospital's mortuary. The Byatarayanapura police have registered a case.

IISc designs new method to deliver TB vaccine

Bengaluru: Researchers from the IISc have designed a new method to deliver a vaccine candidate for tuberculosis (TB). It involves using spherical vesicles secreted by bacteria coated on gold nanoparticles, which can then be delivered to immune cells. This can potentially trigger an immune response and offer protection against the disease. The only effective vaccine currently in use is the BCG vaccine, which contains a weakened form of the disease-causing bacterium. When injected into the bloodstream, it triggers the production of antibodies that can help fight the disease. While the BCG vaccine works well in children, it is not as effective at protecting adolescents and adults. This prompted Rachit Agarwal, assistant professor at the Centre for BioSystems Science and Engineering, IISc, and his group to develop a potential subunit vaccine candidate that contains only parts of the infectious bacterium to stimulate an immune response. "They're safer compared to live bacterium, and since they are membrane-derived, they contain all kinds of antigens," Agarwal explained. Subunit vaccines typically only contain a limited number of antigens – bacterial proteins that can elicit an immune response in the host. By contrast, Outer Membrane Vesicles contain a variety of antigens and can induce a better immune response," researchers said. The study also explained that immune cells cultured in the lab were treated with OMVs derived from Mycobacterium smegmatis, a related bacterial species that does not cause disease in humans. ENS

SCHOOLGIRLS GO MISSING FROM CITY, PARENTS PROTEST

ENS @Bengaluru

TENSION prevailed on Wednesday noon outside a prominent convent on Promenade Road in Fraser Town after parents of three high school girls students blocked the road in protest. Whereabouts of their daughters, who went missing on September 6, are not yet known. The parents, who have filed a complaint with Pulakeshinagar police, alleged that neither police nor the school are helping them.

Of the three girls, two are in Class 9 while the third is in Class 10. Two girls were staying in the school hostel. Their parents alleged that their daughters were humiliated by the school principal and teachers, saying they were "slum people". However, the girls are said to have left behind a note, saying they have problems at home and are not interested in studying. It is not clear if the note was left in the hostel or at their homes. The parents accused the school of negligence by letting the students go out of the hostel premises. The two hostellers had spoken about going to Velankanni. "Three police teams were formed to search for the missing girls. One team has gone to Velankanni, one team to Kerala and another team to other parts of Tamil Nadu," said the police. It is said that the team which went to Velankanni did not found the girls there.

Five in dock for revenge killing in Malleswaram

ENS @Bengaluru

RIVALRY which erupted in Seshadripuram during the nationwide lockdown, ended in the murder of a man after two years. The murder was committed reportedly at the behest of a woman, who is now absconding.

Ganesh Raj, the 34-year-old victim, used to distribute free milk to slum residents, supplied by BBMP during the lockdown. This did not go down well with a rival group, of which the accused woman is a part. Both groups fought, following which a complaint and counter-complaint were registered. Police arrested a few persons and sent them to jail. After coming out from jail, the gang hatched a plot to kill Ganesh, and murdered him on Tuesday while he was returning on his scooter after dropping his children to school. In a swift operation, police managed to arrest five murder accused.

Ganesh Raj alias Kundrapi Ganesh, a resident of JCW Nagar, was murdered near Nataraj theatre in Malleswaram. The accused, who had come in an autorickshaw, stopped the victim's scooter and hacked him to death. The victim was part of a gang headed by Nagaraj. The gang had rivalry with another gang headed by Kumar. During the lockdown, both gangs had fought over distribution of groceries to slums. Both teams wanted to please the residents. The arrested are K Sharath Kumar, 31, his brother K Ajith Kumar, 23, K Sathya, 29, K Sharan and R John, 23, all residents of Seshadripuram. "Both rival gang members were once friends and had worked for the same political party. During the lockdown, there was a difference among the friends, and they formed two separate teams," said the police.

Borewell digging scam will be probed: CM

Says will sit with Oppn, decide on measures to plug loopholes in Ganga Kalyana scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday ordered a probe into the alleged borewell digging scam after Congress members created a ruckus in the Assembly.

Congress members alleged that some contractors have issued fake certificates to get tenders and have even got funds released. Also, the cost of sinking borewells has varied from place to place, they said.

"We need to streamline the system, as various mechanisms have been adopted to help beneficiaries under the Ganga Kalyana scheme," the CM said. He pointed out that the Opposition raised many issues, including a variation in price paid for drilling, payments not done on time, among others. "We will sit and discuss and clear the dues," Bommai assured the House. As Conrgess members were not satisfied, Bommai said the matter will be probed.

Congress MLA Dr Yathindra, who raised the issue in the Assembly, said borewells have been drilled in lands of beneficiaries selected by the Ganga Kalyana Corporation and Karnataka Adijambava Development Corporation. "But neither motor pumps have been distributed nor power supply given," he alleged. Many Congress MLAs joined Dr Yathindra and said it is a scam where money has been paid to contractors without any work done.

Bommai said borewells have been drilled for SC/ST and backward class beneficiaries under various corporations and schemes for the last 20 years. "But the target has not been achieved each year. At some places, borewells are not dug... even if they are dug, power connection is not given. This is because contractors are different. In such cases, the purpose is not served. Successive governments have tried to reach the target. To make it work, the government had decided to sink borewells and give the power connection the same year, and one single contractor was entrusted with the job of drilling and providing power connection. But a few contractors went to court," Bommai elaborated.

LAND GRABBING PROHIBITION BILL TABLED

The Karnataka Land Grabbing Prohibition (Amendment) Bill was tabled in the Assembly on Wednesday. The same was approved by the State cabinet recently. The amendment is needed to avoid criminal proceedings against farmers who have encroached government land in rural areas. The Bill excludes all the places from the purview of the said Act except those places within the limits of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and other city corporations. There is no extra expenditure involved in the proposed amendment. Presently, encroachments outside the BBMP or corporation limits attract a penal provision of minimum one year jail apart from a penalty. Now with the amendment, farmers will be exempted, but warned.

Stern action against encroachers of temple land, Minister tells Council

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MUZURAI Minister Shashikala Jolle on Wednesday informed the Council that the State Government will take stern action against those encroaching lands belonging to Dharmaraya Swamy temple in Thigalarpet in Bengaluru. A probe by a Special Investigation Team (SIT) will be ordered, she said.

Jolle was responding to BJP MLC N Ravi Kumar's demand to clear all encroachments on the temple land and take action against the encroachers. Over 15 acres of the temple land has been encroached and 229 houses and commercial buildings have come up on the encroached land, the minister said.

Taking strong exception to the encroachment of temple lands, Ravi Kumar questioned how local authorities gave them all the documents despite knowing that the buildings were on the encroached lands. He sought to know what action is being taken against those who have built big buildings on the encroached lands and the officials who allowed them. He urged Jolle to visit the spot along with senior officers from the department to take stock of the situation and take stern action.

Jolle said cases were registered with the police against 13 persons for encroachment of temple lands and cases were also registered under the Karnataka Land Grabbing Prohibition Act against five persons and those cases are coming up for hearing on September 19. Jolle also informed the Council that some people have even approached the courts.

The officials have been asked to provide details about electricity and water supply provided to unauthorised structures and have been directed not to issue property documents, electricity and water connections to such buildings. The Muzurai department has also sought details from the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) about applications seeking permission for construction on encroached lands, the minister said. Ravi Kumar urged the government to ensure that the temple lands are registered in the name of the temple and they should be protected.

Is this a mental hospital: Speaker to Cong MLAs

When Congress MLAs wanted a discussion on an issue that was not in the schedule and created a ruckus, Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri lost his cool and gave a lecture on how to behave in the House. Congress MLA Kampli Ganesh raised the issue of increasing reservation to STs when the Speaker asked for the tabling of a Bill. When Kageri told the MLA to give a letter and then speak on the matter, Ganesh came to the well of the House along with other MLAs. Kageri said, "You (new MLAs) are here for the last four-and-a-half-years and unfortunately do not know the procedure. Is this Assembly or a mental hospital?" he thundered. Later, CM Bommai intervened and said the issue raised by Ganesh was a sensitive one which needed discussion. ENS

Revenue Minister R Ashoka on Wednesday said experts from the National Geophysical Research Institute and other central institutes are looking into the reasons for mild tremors in Vijayapura district. Ashoka said experts have opined that there is a possibility of either loud sound or mild tremors due to chemical reactions when limestone comes in contact with water. The groundwater table has increased due to heavy rains in the state for the last four years, the minister said. Ashoka, however, said there is a need for a detailed study, which is being conducted. Congress MLC Sunil Gowda Patil said tremors were reported in the district 52 times. ENS

CAG report picks holes in DBT payments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) payment of Rs 56.08 lakh to 8,464 milk farmers under the Ksheerasiri scheme was pending since January 2020 because of the delay in generation and approval of files. There was no uniformity among various software applications being used resulting in the absence of automated validation checks, which facilitated unauthorised changes in data and consequent over payments and absence of assurance on quality and quantity of milk poured, stated the Comptroller and Auditor General report that was presented on Wednesday.

DBT payments of Rs 5.94 crore were not routed through the Core DBT Portal under the National Food Security Mission and Raithasiri schemes, though both were boarded onto the Core DBT Portal, it said.

Under the Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi scheme, DBT payments of Rs 91.99 crore were not processed from 2019-20. Analysis of DBT data also showed crediting of money into bank accounts of non-beneficiaries. Action taken in respect of 21 complaints between February and October 2020 for Rs 12.95 lakh is not on record, it said.

Though all departments were required to use the centralised Core DBT Portal by the end of 2018-19 and for 239 schemes, the state could achieve DBT for only 83 schemes as of April 2021. Benefits of Rs 2,829.02 crore were disbursed outside the Core DBT Portal by 22 departments. Only 83 per cent of the overall transactions done through DBT were successful, while 14 per cent were rejected. The departments implementing the schemes under DBT failed to rectify and reinitiate failed transactions. There were 91,283 transactions awaiting reinitiation despite a lapse of 30 days from the date of failure, it said.

As the timeline for delivery of DBT services across various transaction points was not fixed, there were delays in delivery of services. The pendency of transactions ranged from three to 673 days. Failure to initiate necessary action resulted in 6.67 lakh beneficiaries being deprived of financial benefits amounting to Rs 153.30 crore during the 2018-19 and 2019-20.

A centralised public grievance mechanism was not established at the DBT Cell to aid the beneficiaries to address grievances across various schemes. Evaluation and impact assessment of the Core DBT portal, Ksheerasiri application, National Food Security Mission (DBT component) and Raithasiri scheme were not conducted, it said.

Bommai: Want professional courses too in Kannada

THE committees and authority which work for the promotion of the language do not have a legal framework. He pointed out that under the National Education Policy (NEP), Karnataka is offering engineering courses in Kannada and syllabus for the first semester is ready. "We want even professional courses to be taught in Kannada," he said.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Kannada Development Authority (KDA) Chairman T S Nagabarana said that the Bill will stress on use of Kannada as medium of instruction in schools, colleges and professional courses, employment (job reservation for Kannadigas), making software in Kannada and implementation of the language across the state including use of Kannada boards on commercial establishments. "All this has been spoken about, but has not been brought under the legal ambit so far. The Bill has been prepared by KDA along with Karnataka Legal Authority and also with the help of guidance from Justice (retd) Bannurmath."

Nagabarana said the Bill will also include penalty clause and legal help. He said a similar law exists in Kerala for Malayalam language. "Though we are working on this for the last one-and-a-half years, it was first proposed 20 years ago by historian and writer late Prof Chidananda Murthy" he added.

Hariprasad's '40% cut' remark rocks Council

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE 40 per cent commission remark by Opposition leader BK Hariprasad led to pandemonium in the Council on Wednesday and was adjourned as members of the Ruling and Opposition parties engaged in a heated argument.

During the discussion on the damage caused by the recent floods, Hariprasad spoke about the hardships being faced by the public due to flooding in Bengaluru and blamed encroachment for the same. Meanwhile, he also referred to the 40 per cent commission allegation and quoted Prime Minister Narendra Modi's statement 'Na khaunga, na khane dunga'. Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan objected to this and demanded that Hariprasad produce proof to substantiate his claims.

This led to an argument between members of the BJP and Congress. Congress MLCs also entered the well of the House to protest while BJP members too raised slogans against the Grand Old Party. Even as Congress members returned to their seats and Hariprasad tried to continue his speech, the BJP members obstructed. Hence, the protem Chairman Raghunath Rao Malkapure adjourned the House for 10 minutes. After the session was reconvened, Malkapure tried to convince the members to have a productive discussion. As there was no order in the House, he adjourned the council till Thursday.

Council proceedings in progress on Wednesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Earlier, Hariprasad said that the compensation provided to those affected by natural calamities was not revised since 2015 and the government should consider revising it at the earliest. He also alleged that PM Modi had not conducted an aerial survey even once whenever Karnataka was hit by floods. He also attacked CM Basavaraj Bommai for not appointing the district-in-charge minister and retaining Bengaluru with him.

Referring to the demolition of a building belonging to a Congress MLA without taking names, Hariprasad demanded action against properties, belonging to politicians irrespective of the parties, and companies that are found to have encroached rajakaluves.

Cracks appear in Cong as camp targets Siddu

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

AHEAD of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra reaching Karnataka, 'original' Congress leaders and the 'imports' are shadow-boxing, with allegations that one camp is trying to corner Opposition leader Siddaramaiah.

The latest flashpoint was 'miscommunication' within the party unit. On Tuesday evening, a meeting of around 15 former ministers was called in a room at a private hotel, just before the scheduled Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting was to start in the hall.

When Siddarmaiah entered, KPCC working president Salim Ahmed guided him to the room where AICC general secretary Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala and KPCC president D K Shivakumar were already present.

As he had not been intimated about the meeting, Siddarmaiah got annoyed and refused to participate, and the video went viral. Saleem and Congress chief whip Ajay Singh managed to calm down Siddaramaiah and convinced him to attend the meeting. Party functionaries attributed it to 'miscommunication' as the intimation reached Siddaramaiah late, because he was on a tour outside Bengaluru.

Recently, Siddaramaiah's picture did not feature on buntings at a meeting Shivakumar held in Raichur recently, and sparked a controversy.

BJP leader attacks own minister over poor work

ENS @ Tumakuru

THERE are rumblings within BJP in Tumakuru. Karnataka State Bioenergy Development Board Chairman and former BJP MLA KS Kirankumar has hit out at Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister JC Madhu Swamy, saying the works carried out in the Chikkanayakanahalli Assembly constituency, represented by the latter, are sub-standard.

Kirankumar, who had "sacrificed" his seat for Madhu Swamy in the 2018 Assembly polls, is now eyeing a BJP ticket from Chikkanayakanahalli in the 2023 polls. He may also get the ticket as he has the backing of RSS and the BJP top leadership, sources said. A video of his speech at his 59th birthday bash at Huliyaru town on Tuesday has gone viral. During the speech, he says, "Several works are of poor quality and roads that were laid recently are already damaged. The minister has no moral right to question the contractors as the works were carried out under his supervision."

He says, "A project to take water to the minister's hometown JC Pura through a pipeline was implemented. But it would have been cost effective and ideal to supply water to the village through natural canals." BJP leaders, including Tumakuru MP GS Basavaraju and former MLA B Suresh Gowda, who have been waging a cold war against Madhu Swamy, were also present.

'E-BUSES WILL HELP STATE GOVT CUT COSTS'

REPLYING to Congress MLA Tanveer Sait, who asked for details on electric BMTC buses, Sriramulu said, under Smart City scheme, 90 electric buses have been taken on contract basis. Under Union government's Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of Electric Vehicles -2 (FAME-2) scheme, 300 buses will be taken on contract, of which 75 buses are already plying on Bengaluru roads. This apart, an order has been placed for 921 electric buses under Convergence Energy Services Limited. With diesel cost increasing, switching to electric buses will help us save cost and it is eco-friendly too," he said. He said presently 35,000 buses are plying under BMTC, KSRTC, NERTC and NWRTC. He said the bidder will have to maintain the buses. The bus depots and bus stations will be managed by the corporations concerned. In his written reply, Sriramulu said the operating cost of diesel buses is around Rs 68.53 per km, while electric buses costs Rs 54 to Rs 64 per km.

A Transport Department official told TNIE that there is no plan to purchase electric buses. "All our SRTCs will be going for electric buses. We cannot procure or buy but will prefer to go for contract," the official said. Sources from the department also said that the move might affect drivers and conductors in the coming days if agencies start plying buses on contract.

Madhu has to fill his father's shoe

Madhu Bangarappa was on Wednesday appointed as the working chairman of Congress OBC wing. Being an Ediga, he is expected to bring in the community votes to the party which play a crucial role in four parliamentary and 70 Assembly seats. Congress sources termed Madhu's appointment, who is already in the manifesto committee, as significant. Madhu said, "I will tour the state and strengthen the party." Madhu is expected to restore to Congress what his father and former CM Bangarappa took away when he quit Congress. "No one acknowledges it, but Bangarappa lifted BJP from under 40 seats to 75-80 by giving them victories in Shivamogga, Uttara Kannada and Dakshina Kannada regions," a political analyst said. Congress' thrust on Edigas is not new. Eyeing the votebank, the party chose BK Hariprasad as the opposition leader in the Council a few months ago. ENS

K'TAKA TRIBE GETS ST STATUS

Union cabinet includes communities from Chhattisgarh, HP and UP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

ADDRESSING a long-pending demand of several deprived communities, the Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved a proposal of the Ministry of Tribal Affairs to add 12 communities to the Scheduled Tribes (ST) list. They include the nomadic Narikuravan and Kuruvikaran in Tamil Nadu and tribes from Chhattisgarh, Himachal Pradesh, Karnataka and Uttar Pradesh.

REPRESENTATIVE PHOTO

Briefing the media, Union Minister for Tribal Affairs Arjun Munda said the decision has brought justice to the communities and a new ray of hope in their lives. Their inclusion will require separate bills to amend the Constitution (Scheduled Tribes) Order, 1950, he added.

Other communities that will get ST status include the Gond along with their five sub-castes in Bhadohi (earlier Sant Ravidas Nagar) district of UP, Betta-Kuruba community as a synonym of Kadu Kuruba in Karnataka, and Binjhia in Chhattisgarh.

In poll-bound Himachal Pradesh, the Hattee community of the Trans-Giri area in Sirmour district will be included in the state's ST list.

As for the Narikuravans and Kuruvikarans in Tamil Nadu, their struggle to change their status from the Most Backward Community to the ST began in 1965 after the Lokur panel's recommendation. ST status is expected to improve their living conditions. They are mostly engaged in traditional occupations of hunter-gathering and selling bead necklaces.

In 1980, former chief minister M G Ramachandran demanded the Central government to include Narikuravars in the ST list. In 2013, former chief minister J Jayalalithaa did an encore.

This is not 'Hindia': Stalin to Shah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

TAKING strong exception to the remark of Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Hindi Diwas that people should learn Hindi to understand the soul of India's culture and history, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin on Wednesday said, "The idea of the Union Minister goes against the principle of unity in diversity in India. This is India, not Hindia."

"The history and culture of India do not rest with the Hindi language. Historians have clearly said the history of India should be written from the South," the DMK president said in a hard-hitting statement.

"India is known for its unity. I urge the Union Home Minister not to take efforts to split this in the name of 'Hindia'. If local languages are to be safeguarded, then declare all 22 languages in the Eighth Schedule of the Constitution as official languages of the Union Government on par with Hindi and celebrate Indian Languages Day instead of Hindi Diwas to strengthen the culture and history of India," he said.

He said historians had established it was the Dravidian language family with Tamil as its principal language that spread its wings beyond India thousands of years ago, before Hindi took shape.

"Pushing back Tamil and other regional languages and attempting to establish Hindi as the national language is an overt sign of dominance," Stalin said.

A former wildlife warden from Mysuru, who requested anonymity, told The New Indian Express "In this case, both mahout and kavadi who handled Lakshmi, showed grave negligence in detecting her pregnancy even at such an advanced stage (movement of calf inside the womb). The foresters too have failed to find its pregnancy status during checkups before selecting them for Dasara procession," he said.

Animal activist Bhagyalakshmi said, "The pregnant elephant would have undergone grave stress during cannon firing drill. How can the veterinarian fail to detect a pregnancy in an elephant?" she said.

Four get life term for human sacrifice

TUG OF WAR OVER INTERPRETATION OF HYDERABAD MERGER

Is September 17, 1948, Telangana Liberation Day or National Integration Day? It is like the raven-rabbit illusion, depending on how one looks at it. For the BJP-led Centre, it is liberation from the tyranny of the Nizams. It is a no-brainer that the BJP has a political motive since September 17 reminds people of the armed struggle against the Razakaars and the police action which led to the then Hyderabad State's merger into the Indian Union. It could be seen as its immediate goal to manipulate society's collective memory for making inroads into the state and consolidating its appeal among the Hindus. In the long term, it is part of a larger ideological battle for a party that draws inspiration from the RSS. And that is the renaissance of the Hindu culture and its 'restoration' to its pride of place in history.

The ruling TRS and its ally, the AIMIM, on the other hand, are seeking to reinterpret history, glossing over the wounds of the past more as a matter of political expediency to counter the BJP challenge. It is pertinent to note that during the Telangana movement, the TRS demanded that September 17 be declared Liberation Day. Once in power, it has steered clear of the issue, partly not to antagonise its ally and partly not to widen the fissures between Hindus and Muslims. With the BJP surging, maybe the TRS thought it could no longer ignore the day and decided on terming it Telangana National Integration Day. So, we have year-long celebrations planned by both the camps.

Can one ever reinterpret history successfully? Soviet-era communists had tried in Eastern Europe but couldn't erase the collective memory of the societies they occupied. True memories passed down the generations are likely to be distorted, but so is history if the intention is to recast it per one's ideology. Memories associated with different groups also tend to be very different from one another. Hence, the question of history versus memory is a tricky one. The way forward could be to desist from manipulation of either. Critic Leon Wieseltier observed that politics grounded in collective memory could destroy the empirical attitude necessary for the responsible use of power. The same goes for distortions of history. Ideally, September 17 ought to be a celebration of freedom, nothing more, nothing less.

LOKAYUKTA MUST SHOW ITS FANGS ARE SHARP

The Karnataka Lokayukta, defanged for over six years, appears to be back on the hunt. The Karnataka High Court dissolved the Anti Corruption Bureau and ordered the restoration of the Lokayukta's investigative powers, staff and cases. While hoping that the Lokayukta will plunge into its duties, guns blazing, one must recall that the corruption watchdog has had a chequered history. It had seen glory days during the tenure of Justice N Venkatachala in the early 2000s when the "one-man army against corrupt bureaucrats" personally led raids against officials. The institution evoked fear, and the bureaucracy quaked at the thought of running foul of the Lokayukta. Justice Santosh Hegde's exhaustive report on the iron ore mining scam, billed as the biggest in India with a reported loss of ₹160.85 billion to the state, led to a crackdown on the Reddy brothers—G Karunakara Reddy, G Janardhana Reddy and G Somashekara Reddy. They were ministers in the B S Yediyurappa government. It also led to Yediyurappa's resignation and, eventually, a bar on mining. Justice Venkatachala and Justice Hegde acquired cult status. Still, the institution touched its nadir when Justice Y Bhaskar Rao had to resign in 2015 when his son was accused of running an extortion racket from the Lokayukta office.

Since its inception in 1984, the Lokayukta has been at the mercy of political dispensation. Former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who led a march against the mining lords right into their lair in Ballari, powered his way into the Vidhana Soudha on the strength of Justice Hegde's report. That proved a significant setback for the BJP. But it was also Siddaramaiah who stripped it of its investigative powers and transferred them to the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) of the Karnataka Police in 2016. Not surprisingly, the ACB proved to be a malleable team which turned a blind eye to corruption and did the bidding of its political masters, for which it came in for censure in the High Court.

The court's decision on the Lokayukta could not have come at a more propitious time, considering the serious '40% commission' charges against the government by contractors, its involvement in the police sub-inspector recruitment scam, and other allegations. It holds up hope for the ordinary citizen that the Lokayukta showing spine can stem corruption, if not eradicate it.

QUICK TAKE

ATHEISM AND SECULARISM

The Supreme Court issues notice to the Tamil Nadu government and Dravidar Kazhagam over a petition questioning Periyar's anti-god statement inscribed on his statues the latter installed across the state. The petitioner invokes the principle of secular governance, finding believers' liberty imperilled. Is atheism a religion? Does the inscription amount to the state promoting atheism or sanctioning a political party's right to expression? A new debate point may surface: the separation of state and the ruling party's politics. Or, it is simply a case where one's right to free expression to agree on a subject is another's right to disagree.

The stark reality is that sans the Congress, a non-BJP front is not viable. Numbers and chemistry are proof enough

DEGREES OF AGGRESSION IN INDIA'S OPPOSITION

RADHIKA RAMASESHAN

Columnist and political commentator

SOUMYADIP SINHA

As the BJP plunged into a crash project to wrest 144 "difficult" Lok Sabha seats in the prelude to the 2024 Lok Sabha battle—with a clinical efficiency that is the hallmark of its functioning under Amit Shah, the home minister—to the extent of directing its senior ministers to prioritise organisational work over all else, the Opposition has not been inconspicuous. Inspired by his move to break ties with the BJP and return to the Mahagathbandhan(MGB), Nitish Kumar, the Janata Dal (United) leader and Bihar chief minister, is the fulcrum of the Opposition's fresh exertions, backed by Telangana Rashtra Samithi president, K Chandrashekar Rao. Kumar's recent visit to Delhi had a sense of déjà vu, a throwback to the past when coalitions were the order of the day to challenge either the Congress or the BJP. He met a gamut of regional chiefs, in or out of power, with a difference: he also called on Rahul Gandhi, a gesture that seemed out of odds with the no-no stand that some of his prospective friends adopted towards a headless Congress.

Kumar's call-on might reflect a recognition of the stark reality that sans the Congress, a non-BJP front is not viable because arithmetic and chemistry militate against such a coalition coming into being independently. Numbers are not on its side, while individual temperaments and ambitions could abort its birth or shorten its tenure as it happened in the past. Having said that, the federal entities also know that some of them have to battle the Congress on their turf, unlike Kumar, for whom the party is an add-on to the MGB in Bihar. The face-off with the Congress also arises from the Congress' proven unreliability as a partner. The history of Congress-backed coalition governments demonstrates that given its attitude and predilections, the Congress refuses to shed the tag of a "Grand Old Party" and regards its allies as minions existing to solely foster its interests. A hint of dereliction and the Congress pulled the rug out from under a government's feet.

Kumar is shy about proclaiming his national ambitions. Armed with a formal sanction from his party's national council to strive for Opposition unity in "national interest", he called on just about every non-BJP leader around in Delhi, including Sitaram Yechury of the CPI(M), Dipankar Bhattacharya, the CPI(ML) general secretary and a Bihar associate, Arvind Kejriwal, the Delhi chief minister, Akhilesh Yadav, the Samajwadi Party president, and O P Chautala, the Indian National Lok Dal leader. Kumar's belief that the coalition will not be another front with a numerical prefix (Third Front, Fourth Front, etc.) but the "Main Front" was an admission of his perception that such endeavours have begun to look tired, unimaginative and not robust enough to challenge the BJP. Consider how the Samajwadi Party–Bahujan Samaj Party–Rashtriya Lok Dal triad that materialised in Uttar Pradesh before the 2019 elections with hype withered away by the time polling happened as a confident BJP more or less kept its 2014 numbers.

There's a sense of déjà vu about Kumar's enterprise, which is partly about knitting together the Samajwadi (Socialist) family. The Socialists, birthed by Ram Manohar Lohia, were a chip off the Congress block that fell out with Nehru. They were bound less by ideology and overwhelmed by their self-importance. The SP, Rashtriya Janata Dal, RLD, INLD and Janata Dal (Secular) and Kumar's JD(U) are pieces of the Socialist mosaic that held together uneasily in the past but came apart as soon as they coalesced. Some walked away independently, while others partnered with the BJP and facilitated the saffron entity's entry and rise in their territories on an "anti-Congress" plank. If the Socialists collaborated with the Congress, it was out of expediency, a circumstance that infused discomfort in their equation. In this spectrum, Lalu Prasad, the RJD founder and leader, alone refused to make his peace with the BJP, however, extenuating the circumstances. His UP counterpart and senior Mulayam Singh Yadav was at times covertly in cahoots with the BJP to safeguard his interests. Therefore, the relationship between the Socialists and the BJP and the Congress has a bearing on Opposition "unity".

The BJP's shadow dogs the efforts. The JD(U) cannot discard the long associations it had with the BJP, first propounded by the late George Fernandes and cemented later by Nitish. Indeed, recently, Kumar contrasted the "work" done by the Vajpayee government (in which he was an important minister) with the Modi dispensation and dubbed the latter as "publicity"—although Kumar wilfully walked out of the MGB on whose back he won the 2015 elections and then opted to go with Prime Minister Modi in 2017.

It was believed that the Centre's perceived roughshod treatment of the non-BJP ruled states—primarily in the disbursement of funds, aid and statutory appointments that called for consensus—would revive the federal principle and re-group the states against the BJP. This hasn't quite happened. If Chandrashekar Rao suddenly took up cudgels against Modi, he realised that the BJP was a more dire threat on the Telangana turf than the Congress and could potentially displace him in the next assembly polls. In neighbouring Andhra Pradesh, Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy has struck a kind of equilibrium with the Centre as has Naveen Patnaik, the CM of Odisha, another contiguous state, which enables them to serve the rights and interests of their provinces while, ironically, thwarting the BJP's emergence.

Uddhav Thackeray, the deposed Maharashtra CM who presently helms a small Shiv Sena faction, is preoccupied with staving off the BJP and his former party colleagues from thinking nationally. Mamata Banerjee, the Trinamool Congress Party leader and West Bengal CM, was poised to spearhead a countrywide anti-BJP grouping until the BJP cornered her ministers and functionaries in allegedly serious corruption charges which have grounded her in Kolkata.

In this medley, the Aam Aadmi Party is an outlier. Like the TMC, some of the ministers in the Delhi government were implicated in graft cases, but AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal refuses to stray from the path he has drawn for himself. That is challenging the BJP on its agenda. Kejriwal is clearly trying to be one up on the "development" storyline.

He's clear he wants no truck with the Congress. Where do the conflicting pulls and pressures leave Opposition "unity"?

THE PLACHIMADA STORY

MADHAV GADGIL

Ecologist, academic and author

People of Plachimada in Palakkad district of Kerala have begun a satyagraha on August 15, the day we completed 75 years of independence, to press for their just demands. They are asking for the implementation of a tribunal to realise financial compensation from Coca-Cola. They also want the LDF government to honour its promise of paying compensation in its 2016 election manifesto.

What these people have achieved, albeit partially, is unique; it is the only instance where the fundamental rights of the people granted by our Constitution have been honoured by politicians and a bench of the Kerala High Court.

Their dispute with Coca-Cola related to its bottling plant drawing 20 lakh litres of groundwater per day. The charge was that the alleged over-drawing depleted groundwater levels causing wells to dry, creating water scarcity and adversely impacting agricultural output and livelihood. The casual disposal of sludge caused health problems for the locals.

The people of Plachimada demanded that the government must assess their losses. The resultant scientific inquiry estimated them at ₹216 crore. Based on this evidence and in response to the groundswell of people's protest, the panchayat revoked the company's license, arguing that as a locally elected government, it had the duty to protect the wellbeing of its citizens and the right to rescind permission for anything that adversely affected them.

The company went to court arguing that the panchayat was subordinate to the state government, which had granted it the license. In 2003, a single-member bench of the High Court of Kerala rejected the company's argument, affirming that people at the grassroots have the authority to decide on the course of development in their own locality.

Regretfully, this very proper decision was later set aside by the High Court's Division Bench. This was no surprise as the courts have never held polluting industries accountable for their actions and duly penalised them, nor have they upheld people's fundamental rights to protect their natural resources.

But the vigour with which the people of Plachimada continued to insist on their rights under the leadership of a remarkable Adivasi lady, Mayilamma, and the nationwide and international support that the movement attracted, prompted the Kerala Legislative Assembly to pass legislation in 2010 to set up a special tribunal to realise compensation from Coca-Cola.

But no tribunal has been set up, and the people's perseverance prompted the LDF to assure in its manifesto in 2016 that justice would be done to the people of Plachimada.

Although they have failed to receive any compensation for their grievous losses, they succeeded in shutting down the Coca-Cola plant in 2004 and preventing further environmental degradation by successfully asserting their rights to protect their own groundwater.

> Their dispute with Coca-Cola related to its bottling plant drawing 20 lakh litres of groundwater per day. The charge was that the alleged over-drawing depleted groundwater levels causing wells to dry, creating water scarcity and adversely impacting agricultural output and livelihood

As we complete 75 years of independence, I am immensely proud that despite a few blips here and there, we remain a vibrant democracy. This is in good part a gift of our remarkable Constitution. Its Preamble declares: "We, the people of India, having solemnly resolved to constitute India into a sovereign socialist secular democratic republic and to secure to all its citizens: justice, liberty, equality and fraternity, do hereby adopt, enact and give to ourselves this constitution."

Thus, the people of India are sovereign rulers of the country. The first general elections after we adopted this Constitution were held in 1952. Many idealistic freedom fighters were still active in politics, and I vividly recall some of the speeches I heard during the election campaign as a 10-year-old. One of the Lok Sabha candidates talked about the people's constitutional rights. He said that your elected representatives are your agents and must not be allowed to rule over you against your wishes. So, we, the people of India, will collectively rule the country, and each of you will have the right to participate in all appropriate decisions.

This has not been allowed to happen, and we must now turn a new leaf and strive to empower people to exercise their due share as rulers of India, as the people of Plachimada have been demanding. This is needed to lift India out of the pits in which the global Environmental Performance (EPI) and Happiness indices indicate that it has fallen into. We were always close to but now are right at the rock bottom of 180 out of 180 in EPI.

We have also been close to the bottom in the Happiness index, but countries like Afghanistan have kept us a little away from it. Our poor record in managing air and water pollution has taken us so low in EPI. Such rampant pollution goes on because its costs are imposed on the weak and the poor, as was vividly brought out in the case of the Grasim factory's pollution of Chaliyar.

Notably, mercury pollution was a significant element in the Chaliyar case, as it had been in the case of Minamata Bay in Japan. Consequently, Japan passed very stringent laws against the pollution that were properly implemented in that law-abiding country. This led to their automobile industry substantially reducing vehicle emissions. Simultaneously, it also resulted in much greater efficiency of fuel use. Japan was, therefore, manufacturing the world's most fuel-efficient automobiles when oil prices rose by 300% during the oil shock of 1973.

As a result, Japanese cars managed to capture a significant share of the world's automobile market, contributing significantly to Japan's economic growth. Thus, taking good care of the environment does not hurt any country but actually helps its economic growth. We should indeed emulate Japan, for today we indulge in iniquitous growth promoting social disharmony. We must now move towards equitable growth alongside social harmony by empowering our people as the Constitution demands.

Dissenting a dissenter

Apropos of the column, Dissent and the reinvention of democracy (Sept 14). The word, 'dissent', came into vogue in the last eight years. One never heard the word during Congress rule—'secularism' and 'socialism' were more in use. Hindus had no right to dissent in the Congress' 'secular' rule. Yet, during the BJP rule, a year-long agitation was launched against the three agricultural laws—protesters blocked the highways and it was considered their democratic right to do so!

Odisha's massive drug haul is entirely due to the CM's determination to Tackle Odisha drugs menace on priority (Sept 14). He put all the concerned agencies on high alert. # KCR, Nitish, Oppn galaxy to join INLD rally

Samman Diwas will be organised in memory of former Dy PM Devi Lal and seeks to forge united Oppn front

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

TELANGANA Chief Minister K Chandrashekhar Rao will attend Indian National Lok Dal's (INLD) public rally on September 25 in Haryana, according to Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) leaders. The rally "Samman Diwas" is being organised to mark the birth anniversary of former deputy Prime minister and party founder Devi Lal.

The rally, which will be attended by a galaxy of Opposition leaders including Bihar Chief minister Nitish Kumar and deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav is being seen as the coming together of opposition parties against the BJP in the run up to the 2024 General elections. INLD says that the rally will be a historic 'Samman Divas' and it will mark the 'beginning of a change with the participation of lakhs of people.

Apart from KCR, several regional leaders such as NCP chief Sharad Pawar, National Conference president Farooq Abdullah, Samajwadi Party (SP) leader Mulayam Singh Yadav and Akhilesh Yadav are expected to attend the rally. The invitees also include TDP president Chandrababu Naidu, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee among others. According to INLD leaders, Shiromani Akali Dal patriarch Parkash Singh Badal and many more are likely to attend the rally.

For KCR, who has been meeting several regional leaders in the recent past, the rally will be an opportunity to renew his ties, say sources. While he met Nitish Kumar in Bihar after he walked out of the alliance with the BJP, KCR also held deliberations with JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy in Hyderabad last week.

Hectic parleys between Opposition leaders will take place on the sidelines of the meeting, said TRS sources. The rally comes on the heels of the announcement of KCR to launch a national party with an alternative national agenda against the saffron party. TRS leaders said that the party will try to expand its footprints on other states such Gujarat, Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh and other states and will be seeking the support of leaders of those states.

While INLD chief and former Haryana Chief Minister Om Prakash Chautala and his son Abhay Chautala have been inviting leaders from many walks, Congress is conspicuously absent among the invitees. Though some of the opposition parties including TRS, JDS and TMC favours an Opposition bloc minus Congress, Nitish Kumar has been keen on taking the grand old party on board.

TRS leaders say that though Nitish has emerged as a key player in bringing the opposition parties together, KCR is open to work with him at the national level. "Though the last meeting between Nitish and KCR did not end in a positive note, KCR is open to work with him," said the TRS leader.

Last week, Kumar met several opposition leaders including Rahul Gandhi, Sharad Pawar, Arvind Kejriwal, and CPI(M) Sitaram Yechury among many others.

In the 2019 polls, the INLD was routed with only Abhay managing to win the election from Ellanabad. He had later resigned from his seat in solidarity with farmers' year-long agitation agitation against the now-repealed three contentious central farm laws.

The 87-year-old Jat leader and five-time CM, Chautala, who came out of prison last year on completion of his 10-year jail term, has been looking to help the INLD stage a comeback in Haryana politics through the Samman Diwas rally.

Attempt to seek Opp unity before 2024 polls

The rally, which will be attended by a galaxy of Opposition leaders including Bihar Chief minister Nitish Kumar and deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav is being seen as the coming together of opposition parties against the BJP in the run up to the 2024 general elections.

India, France to set up Indo-Pacific trilateral

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA and France have agreed to work towards the establishment of an Indo-Pacific trilateral development cooperation that would facilitate development projects, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said after talks with his French counterpart Catherine Colonna.

"France has a presence in the Indo-Pacific and we will work towards the establishment of an Indo-Pacific Trilateral Development Cooperation Fund that will support sustainable innovative solutions for countries in the region," said French Foreign Minister Catherine Colonna after the meeting.

India and France have decided to resume cooperation under the India-France-Australia trilateral mechanism. They also welcomed the inaugural meeting of the Focal Points of the India-France-UAE Trilateral Framework, which took place in July 2022.

France and India share a comprehensive strategy for the Indo-Pacific that seeks to provide tangible solutions for maritime security, regional cooperation, climate change adaptation and mitigation, biodiversity protection, and healthcare.

"During the last three decades, India's relationship with France has continued to intensify and we are trusted partners. We spoke about the conflict in Ukraine, the tensions in Indo Pacific, the developments in Afghanistan and the prospects of Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA),'" said Jaishankar.

Besides, France will continue to work with India on the Jaitapur nuclear power plant project in the state of Maharashtra. This is slated to be the biggest nuclear power project in the world.

BREATH ANALYSER TEST MUST FOR PILOTS, CABIN CREW

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WITH the decline in Covid cases across India and the increase in air traffic, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) has said that the mandatory breath analyser tests for pilots and cabin crew will be resumed.

"Come October 15 and pilots and cabin crew members across all airlines will have to undergo the mandatory breath analyser tests. This will be done in an open area with CCTV for recording,'' according to the DGCA.

There was a dispensation from the Delhi High Court which led to the announcement of the restoration of the breath analyser test by the DGCA.

Pilots and cabin crew will also be checked for any Covid related symptoms before the breath analyser test is done.

"In case a member of the crew is found Covid positive, they will be exempted from the breath analyser test and sent back home and will resume duty after they test negative,'' DGCA added.

All the testing equipment for the breath analyser test has to be sanitised using UV sterlisers as it can be hazardous if its tested on a Covid positive crew member and can transmit the virus to the person next in line.

Meanwhile, for the intervening period between now and October 14th all conditions laid down in the DGCA's March 29th order will remain in effect barring two things. The first is the mandatory wearing of a PPE kit by the medical staff and the second is the limitation of only six people being tested in one hour, the DGCA added.

'Hijab ban forced 17K girls to skip exam'

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

RELYING on the contents of a report by People's Union for Civil Liberties which dealt with the impact of Karnataka HC's verdict, senior advocate Huzefa Ahmadi for the Muslim students in the Karnataka hijab ban case on Wednesday told the bench of Justices Hemant Gupta and Sudhanshu Dhulia that the ban had resulted in thousands (17,000) of students abstaining from taking examinations.

Questioning the authenticity of the report, the bench said, "We don't want to say anything about reports. We didn't accept. The issue of dropout rate was never raised before the HC. You are arguing for the first time here."

Ahmadi also argued that Muslim girls, who were confined to madrasas earlier had broken stereotypes by joining secular education although with the hijab but the government order (GO) which restrained students to wear the hijab, or customary Islamic headscarf to educational i nstitutions took that away from them.

Taking exceptions to his submissions, the bench said, "There is no foundation of that in the writ petition read by Mr Mucchala that you are going to madrasas, which it's not the case set up. The HC has not discussed it."

The GO said it was to develop fraternity, but it is the antithesis of fraternity, Ahmadi argued. Stressing on the objective of the Karnataka Education Act which promotes unity in diversity, he said that the circular was the objective of the Act. "If somebody is getting proved by hijab, he should have a sense of brotherhood and fraternity," Ahmadi added. Senior advocate Rajeev Dhavan for a 17 year old girl said that the GO targeted Muslim women without any sensitivity and that it was contrary to law and the Constitution.

"This is not a yes no issue. This is not an issue where you say we have a disciplinary code and you follow it. What are the obligations of the authority concerned to bring about a measure of inclusiveness and to apply the least restrictive approach. The GO is against hijab, it targets Muslims and Muslim women particularly. Violates article 14 & 15 and this Targeting without any sensitivity is contrary to law and the constitution," Dhavan submitted.

Modi to flag off 3rd rake of Vande Bharat express

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AHEAD of Assembly elections in Gujarat, Ahmedabad is all set to get the commercial services of newly rolled out third rake of country's semi high speed Vande Bharat express train. The railway had conducted the final test run of this new version of Vande Bharat train on the Mumbai-Ahmedabad section on September 9 under keen observations of technical and safety experts.

Sources in the railways said that the third rake of Vande Bharat train, equipped with wi-fi, 'content on demand' and the photo-catalytic ultra air purifier system, during its final test-run covered the distance of 492 km just in 5 hours 10 minutes. "Soon the distance between Mumbai-Ahmedabad will be reduced from Vande Bharat", hinted Darshana Jardosh-Minister of State for Railways on Tuesday about the introduction of third rake of Vande Bharat train through a tweet.

The railway is learnt to have started all preparations to get the third rake of the Vande Bharat train flagged- off by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, mostly likely on September 30. "The PM has been requested and he may likely flag off the third rake of Vande Bharat express train from Gandhinagar station in Gujarat to Mumbai Central. Details are still awaited but the third new rake of the Vande Bharat is ready to go for commercial run with all world class passenger amenities and safety measures", a senior railway official told this newspaper.

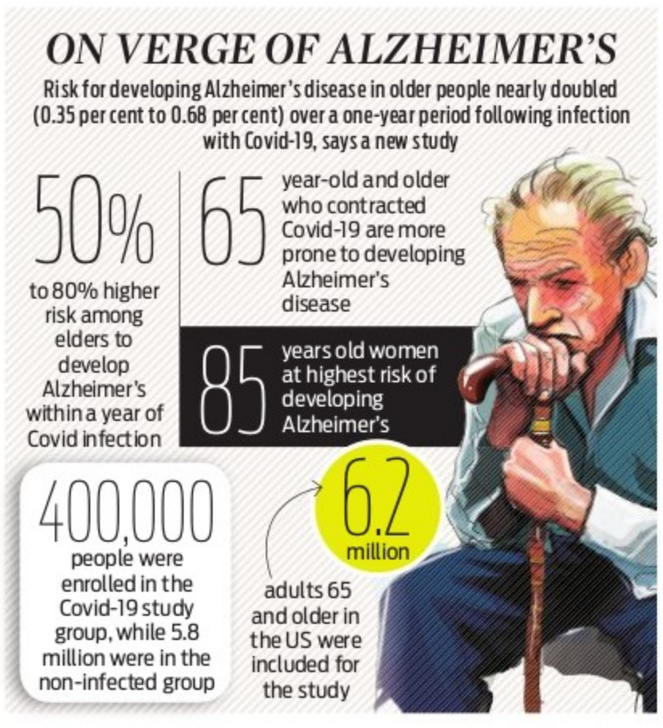
OLDER adults infected with Covid-19 are at a greater risk of developing Alzheimer's disease within a year, according to a new study.

The study, carried out on more than six million patients aged 65 and older, said that the risk increases by 50 per cent to 80 per cent in these people. The highest risk was, however, observed in women who were aged 85 years old.

The study, published in the Journal of Alzheimer's Disease, said that it is unclear whether COVID-19 triggers new development of Alzheimer's disease or accelerates its emergence.

"The factors that play into the development of Alzheimer's disease have been poorly understood, but two pieces considered important are prior infections, especially viral infections, and inflammation," said Pamela Davis, Distinguished University Professor and The Arline H. and Curtis F. Garvin Research Professor at the Case Western Reserve School of Medicine, the study's co-author.

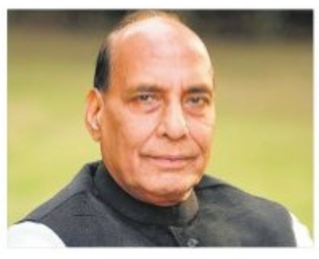
"Since infection with SARS-CoV2 has been associated with central nervous system abnormalities including inflammation, we wanted to test whether, even in the short term, COVID-19 could lead to increased diagnoses," she added.



ON VERGE OF ALZHEIMER'S
Risk for developing Alzheimer's disease in older people nearly doubled (0.35 per cent to 0.68 per cent) over a one-year period following infection with Covid-19, says a new study
50% to 80% higher risk among elders to develop Alzheimer's within a year of Covid infection
65 year-old and older who contracted Covid-19 are more prone to developing Alzheimer's disease
85 years old women at highest risk of developing Alzheimer's
400,000 people were enrolled in the Covid-19 study group, while 5.8 million were in the non-infected group
6.2 million adults 65 and older in the US were included for the study

F-16 sale to Pak: Rajnath calls Austin, raises alarm

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi



INDIA conveyed its "concerns" on Wednesday towards the "sustenance package" approved by the United States for the US manufactured F-16 fighter jets of the Pakistan Air Force (PAF). The Ministry of Defence (MoD) in a statement said, "Rajnath Singh conveyed India's concerns over the US decision to provide a sustenance package for Pakistan's F-16 fleet."

Rajnath Singh and his US counterpart Secretary of Defence Lloyd Austin had a "warm and fruitful telephonic conversation" said the MoD adding, "They reviewed the multi-faceted India-US defence cooperation and reiterated mutual commitment to further strengthen military-to-military ties."

As per the US State Department the proposed package would sustain Pakistan's capability to meet current and future counterterrorism threats by maintaining its F-16 fleet." Under the package a Foreign Military Sales (FMS) worth $450 million for hardware, software, and spares for the F-16 fighter jet programme with Pakistan was approved on September 8. The official Pentagon version on the support package to Pakistan read: "This will sustain Islamabad's capability to meet the current and future counterterrorism threats by maintaining its F-16 fleet as well as support American foreign policy and national security objectives by allowing interoperability in ongoing counterterrorism efforts and in preparation for future contingency operations."

It was PAFs F-16 fighters which had tried to breach the Indian Air space on February 27, 2019 in response to the Indian air raid on the Jaish-e-Mohammed training facility in Balakot, Pakistan.

Maharashtra loses two mega projects to Gujarat

Sena leader Aaditya Thackeray hits out at Shinde-Fadnavis govt

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

NOT only the Foxconn-Vedanta semiconductors plant, but yet another mega project – the Bulk Drug Park (BDP) -- pursued by the previous MVA government -- has also gone to Gujarat, Andhra Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh, drawing flak from Maharashtra opposition.

Shiv Sena leader Aaditya Thackeray has blamed the Shinde-Fadnavis government for loss of the mega projects.

"The then CM Uddhav Thackeray had written to the Centre requesting for the BDP project in Maharashtra. We had followed it up with the Centre and hoped to get it. The project would have generated 70,000 job opportunities in the state. We had even finalized the location in Raigad district that was close to airports and ports," said Aditya.

"Meanwhile, we lost the government and the new unconstitutional dispensation failed to pursue it. We have now learnt that the BDP project has gone to Gujarat," he said. "I believe every state should get its fair share of investment, job opportunities. I don't complain about the three states bagging the project. Yet I wonder why the current Maharashtra dispensation could not actively pursue the project with the Centre," he said.

Aaditya Thackeray, who was minister of tourism and environment in the MVA government led by his father, said with the Foxconn-Vedanta's semiconductor project shifting to Gujarat, Maharashtra has lost two major opportunities that could have easily generated one lakh jobs.

"The current government is indulging in mudslinging, but has no answer for the youth who lost out on job opportunities," he said.

"We have 350 pharmaceutical colleges in Maharashtra. Besides, the climate for business is also good and we have other connected drugs firms in Pune. We missed a great opportunity due to the non-performance of the Shinde government," Thackeray said.

The Bulk Drug Parks will provide common infrastructure facilities at one place, thereby creating a robust ecosystem for the bulk drug manufacturing in the country, reducing the cost significantly.

This scheme is expected to encourage domestic manufacturing of bulk drugs to reduce import dependence and establish a dominant position in the global market by providing easy access to standard testing and infrastructure facilities.

Ration scheme fraud rocks MP Vidhan Sabha

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE alleged fraud in the Take Home Ration (THR) scheme of the state government continued to rock the Madhya Pradesh Vidhan Sabha on the second day of the monsoon session on Wednesday.

The House saw an uproar after the question hour (which was twice adjourned), as the Congress members, including former CM Kamal Nath, began protests over the issue. Members of the Opposition entered the well of the House, raised anti-CM slogans and sang bhajans.

Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan, meanwhile, made a statement about the alleged fraud flagged in the recently-leaked report of the state's Accountant General.

"The audit was conducted between 2018 and 2021 and the draft report was sent to the state government by the Accountant General on Aug 12, 2022. But it was just a draft report and not the final report," he said, adding that the government is committed to probe all the points of the report, irrespective of which government was in power in the state.

77% quota in govt jobs for locals gets J'khand cabinet nod

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand Cabinet on Wednesday approved the proposal on domicile policy based on the 1932 'Khatiyan' (land records). The Cabinet approved 43 proposals, including 77 per cent reservation for the socially, economically and weaker sections in state government jobs.

The domicile policy has been controversial since Jharkhand was formed in 2000. As per the provisions formulated by BJP government in 2016, people living in Jharkhand since or before 1985 were considered local inhabitants. However, after the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha-led alliance took over in 2019, party president Shibu Soren announced that the 1932 cut-off should be used.

Chief Minister Hemant Soren called the meeting "historic".

"The State Government has taken several big decisions, whether it is domicile policy based on 1932 'khatiyan' or reservation to the weaker and deprived sections of the society. It has been decided that 1932 khatiyan will be implemented, OBC will get 27 per cent reservation and the government employees would get their due rights," said Soren.

As per the proposed domicile policy, people who have their names or their ancestors' name in the land records of 1932 or before that, will be considered as a local inhabitant of Jharkhand. Besides, landless people or those who have lost the land record will be identified by the respective Gram Sabha.

As per the proposed job reservation policy, local people belonging to the SC and ST will have 12 per cent and 28 per cent quota, respectively. The Extremely Backward Castes, OBCs, and Economically Weaker Section (excluding other reserved categories) will get 15 per cent, 12 per cent and 10 per cent reservation, respectively.

PM asks Guj BJP chief CR Patil to lose weight

During PM Narendra Modi's last visit, Gujarat Bhartiya Janata Party (BJP)'s president CR Patil, who was accompanying Modi during the launch of various development projects, slipped and fell while walking. A video of the incident has gone viral. Taking the incident seriously, PM Modi has advised Patil to lose weight through Panchakarma'. According to sources, the PM advised him that "more fitter a leader is, the more effectively he can do the party's work." Due to this, Patil, who is busy with continuous campaigning, will finally take out time for his health. Patil is now on leave and taking Panchakarma treatment in Delhi.

'Tired' Patil goes public about party tickets

Gujarat BJP president Patil has made a public statement that he will not get involved in ticket distribution as only PM Modi and Amit Shah will decide who will be given tickets. If sources are to be believed, some people close to the party development said that most of the people were running after the state president for assembly tickets. To get relief from this, Patil made a public statement saying that he had no role to play in the distribution of tickets. Some other sources close to the party say that a clear order has come from the BJP high command that the names of candidates in Gujarat will not be finalized without the approval of Shah and PM Modi.

'Hindu Kejriwal will emerge in politics'

While AAP is campaigning vigorously in Gujarat, an old video of former VHP leader Pravin Togadia has gone viral on social media. In the 2018 video, Togadia is seen saying that those who were in power earlier never kept any promises, that's why people brought others to power and if they also don't keep their promises then Hindu society will bring the third one, a Hindu Kejriwal will emerge in Indian politics." On being asked whether a third option is being prepared in India, Togadia replies that the option will be created by the Hindu society. After the video went viral, rumours spread widely that AAP in Gujarat is being supported by Hindu organizations.

7 killed in Gujarat after lift collapses

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

AT least seven labourers were killed and one seriously injured after lift of an under-construction building collapsed in Ahmedabad city on Wednesday.

As per initial reports, a make-shift lift stopped working at the seventh floor of an under-construction high-rise building near Gujarat University. At the time of the incident, the temporary structure had eight labourers.

Authorities of the Fire and Emergency Services Department of Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation claimed that they didn't receive any call regarding the incident. The fire and police team reached the spot around 1 pm.

"At the time of the accident eight labourers were inside the lift, which was being used to carry various materials. The lift crashed from the seventh floor on Wednesday morning. The labourers were working in the lift chamber," said an eyewitness and a labourer at the site.

Punjab minister lands in trouble as 'extortion' audio tape gets leaked

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

A Punjab minister could be awaiting his sack orders after an audio clip went viral in which the minister and his OSD are heard discussing ways to trap food grain contractors to extort money from them. Minister of Freedom Fighters, Defence Services Welfare, Food Processing and Horticulture Fauja Singh Sarari joined the Bhagwant Mann cabinet about two months back. Sarari and his officer on special duty Tarsem Lal Kapoor are facing the ruling AAP "probe" to check the veracity of the clip.

This is the second such instance in the six-month-old AAP government. Dr Vijay Singla, the health minister, was sacked in a corruption case barely two months after the AAP took over Punjab following a stunning victory in the February Assembly polls.

Sources said both Sarari and Tarsem had a closed-door meeting at the residence of the minister until around 11.30 pm on Tuesday night. Sources said there was a disagreement between the two over how to sort out grain contractors' demands.

4 AAP MLAs mired in controversies

- A Ropar-based businessman has accused AAP's Ropar MLA Dinesh Chadha of trying to take over the gypsum business.
- The ED raided the premises of Amargarh MLA Jaswant Singh Gajjan Majra last week in a money laundering probe.
- A 50-second video of two-time AAP MLA from Talwandi Sabo Baljinder Kaur being slapped by her husband in public has gone viral.
- AAP MLA Harmeet Singh Pathanmajra's second wife has lodged a complaint accusing the MLA of hiding his first marriage.

Tarsem has reportedly met senior party leaders and reportedly insisted on the genuineness of the clip. Sarari met senior AAP leaders to explain his side of the story. Sources said Sarari's fate would be decided after CM Bhagwant Mann's return from Germany. AAP is under pressure to act as assembly polls in Himachal Pradesh and Gujarat are around the corner.

Pay ₹10 lakh to gang-raped pregnant woman: J'khand HC to state govt

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand High Court on Wednesday directed the state government to pay Rs 10 lakh as compensation to a visually-impaired 19-year old tribal woman who became pregnant after being gang raped repeatedly by her own family members.

The direction came a day after a medical board constituted by the director of Rajendra Institute of Medical Sciences submitted its report stating that it was not possible to terminate the embryo as it is 28 weeks old and in a healthy condition.

The matter came to light when the People's Union of Civil Liberties (PUCL) took up the matter and filed a writ petition in Jharkhand HC seeking permission for abortion.

The court, while hearing the writ petition filed by PUCL on behalf of the victim, directed the RIMS director on Thursday to constitute a medical board to examine the petitioner "and to find out whether at this stage pregnancy can be terminated or not".

"The State Legal Services Authority shall ensure that the state government shall pay an amount of Rs 10 lakh as compensation to the victim," stated the court order passed by Justice Sanjay Kumar Dwivedi.

'Not possible to terminate pregnancy'

The direction came a day after RIMS medical board submitted its report stating that it was not possible to terminate the embryo as it is 28 weeks old and in a healthy condition.

The deputy commissioner of Ranchi shall ensure to open a bank account in the name of the victim in any nationalized bank chosen by the father of the woman, it added.

Meanwhile, the court order further stated that "the victim shall be put in a proper rehabilitation centre being operated by either the state government or under the scheme of the Union of India."

Advocate Sailesh Poddar appearing on behalf of the victim said that since there is no rehabilitation centre for such victims in Ranchi, this court has requested the chief secretary and the deputy commissioner to take up the issue of creating such a rehabilitation centre in Ranchi.

"The court has also directed the deputy commissioner to ensure that arrangements are made to provide proper diet and medical supervision to the rape survivor," said advocate Sailesh Poddar, who is also a PUCL activist.

The state government has also been directed to provide proper medical facilities for safe delivery of the child, he added.

The advocate said that the court has also directed the state to ensure that the victim gets the benefits of handicapped pension scheme.

PUCL had approached Ranchi Deputy Commissioner and DLSA for protection and medical care of the rape victim in August but nothing was done in this regard.

"The victim is visually-challenged, extremely poor and is a victim of rape since 2018. Her father is a rickshaw puller and is unable to take care of her," said PUCL general secretary Shashi Sagar Verma. She is under constant threat of being raped again as her mother passed away several years back and she lives alone in the rickety house, he added.

UP Assembly to keep one day only for women MLAs to raise issues

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

WOMEN lawmakers in Uttar Pradesh will now have a full day kept exclusively for them to raise issues during the upcoming monsoon session of the Assembly.

The decision was taken by Assembly Speaker Satish Mahan, who fixed a day when only women MLAs would get the floor of the House. The monsoon session begins on September 19.

"All women members will be given an opportunity to speak on the issues they want to after the question hour on the specified day," Mahana said. His decision came after an interaction with the MLAs during which the women rued about not getting adequate opportunity to speak in the House.

The UP assembly has 403 members, of which only 47 are women.

The women MLAs, cutting across party lines, welcomed the initiative.

The BJP's Rae Bareli MLA Aditi Singh, who earlier represented the Congress in Assembly, said that the initiative would ensure that women MLAs are heard patiently by their male counterparts.

The only woman Congress MLA in the house, Aradhana Mishra 'Mona', said that the initiative would prove to be a trendsetter for the rest of the country. She added that in a patriarchal society where women face serious issues on several professional and personal fronts, this decision will help the women lawmakers express their thoughts without being interrupted.

Ecotourism: New tiger reserve to be opened for visitors in western UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

Amangarh Tiger Reserve, which is an extension of and buffer to JCNP, houses tigers, leopards and elephants, among other wild animals

THE Uttar Pradesh government is set to introduce its first tiger reserve in western UP to visitors, with the Amangarh Tiger Reserve (ATR) likely to open for tourists in mid-November.

Despite being in existence, ATR, located in Bijnor district, wasn't open to tourists so far. However, in a bid to promote ecotourism, the state government is looking at the reserved forest as an alternative to Jim Corbett National Park (JCNP). The main motive behind this deliberation is to attract tourists from New Delhi and the National Capital Region, since the tiger reserve is situated closer to the area.

ATR, which is an extension of and buffer to JCNP, houses tigers, leopards and elephants, among other wild animals.

According to Bareilly zone Chief Forest Conservator Lalit Verma, ATR will also create employment opportunities for the local residents as those with an interest in wildlife will be inducted as tourist guides. Verma added that a batch of youth has already been trained as guides, and jeeps would also be registered for wildlife safaris.

Corbett was a part of UP before Uttarakhand was carved out in 2000, and JCNP was included in the hill state.

In 2012, around 95 sq.km area of UP adjacent to JCNP was notified as a tiger reserve by the then state government. This area was also earlier a part of JCNP. Uttar Pradesh has two more tiger reserves — Dudhwa and Pilibhit.

ATR would also ease off the pressure from JCNP due to high foot fall of tourists from across the country, Verma added. The reserve is internally connected to the JCNP jungles. A drive inside the forest leads to the Jhirna range of JCNP.

2 militants involved in attack on labourer killed

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

TWO local militants belonging to Al Qaeda-linked Ansar Gazwal-ul-Hind (AGuH) outfit, who were involved in the recent attack on a labourer from West Bengal, were killed in an encounter with security forces in Nowgam area of Srinagar on Wednesday evening.

A police official said that acting on specific information about the presence of militants, the police, CRPF and Army launched a joint combing and search operation in the area. After plugging all the possible escape routes, security personnel zeroed-in on the target area where the militants were hiding. After finding themselves trapped, the militants opened fire on the search party. The fire was returned by the troops and in the ensuing firefight, which continued for about half an hour, two militants were killed. ADGP Kashmir Vijay Kumar said the slain militants belonged to the AGuH militant outfit.

He identified the slain militants as Aijaz Rasool Nazar of Pulwama and Shahid Ahmad alias Abu Hamza. "Both were involved in the recent militant attack on a labourer named Muneer-ul-Islam from West Bengal in Pulwama," Kumar said. On Sept 2, militants had shot at and injured Muneer-ul-Islam in Ugergand area of Pulwama.

Meanwhile, militants lobbed a grenade towards a CRPF bunker in Tral area of south Kashmir's Pulwama district. The grenade, however, missed the target and exploded on the road without causing any damage or injuries.

Queen's coffin lies in state at Westminster Hall

Thousands of Britons line up to pay last respects to their beloved monarch

LONDON

THE coffin of Queen Elizabeth II left Buckingham Palace for the last time on Wednesday, borne on a horse-drawn carriage and saluted by cannons and the tolling of Big Ben, in a solemn procession through the flag-draped, crowd-lined streets of London to Westminster Hall.

There, Britain's longest-serving monarch will lie in state for the world to mourn. Her son, King Charles III, and his siblings and sons marched behind the coffin, which was topped by a wreath of white roses and her crown resting on a purple velvet pillow.

The queen will lie in state for four days until her funeral Monday, with hundreds of thousands of people expected to file past. Eight pall bearers carried the oak and lead-lined coffin into Westminster Hall, placing it on a raised platform known as a catafalque.

The military procession from Buckingham Palace was designed to underscore the queen's seven decades as head of state as the national mourning process shifted to the grand boulevards and historic landmarks of the UK capital.

Thousands who had waited for hours along The Mall outside the palace and other locations along the route held up phones and cameras, and some wiped away tears, as the procession passed. Applause broke out as the coffin passed through Horse Guards Parade.

The coffin was draped in the Royal Standard and topped with the Imperial State Crown — encrusted with almost 3,000 diamonds — and a bouquet of flowers and plants.

The 38-minute procession ended at Westminster Hall, where Archbishop of Canterbury Justin Welby led a service attended by Charles and other royals. "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you," Welby read from the Bible.

Soonafterwards, the Westminster Hall was thrown open to members of the public. People have been warned they will face an endurance test to see the queen's coffin with lines that could tail back more than eight kilometres. AP

Xi backs Kazakhstan's sovereignty amid fears of meddling by Russia

NUR-SULTAN

CHINA'S President Xi Jinping was in ex-Soviet Kazakhstan Wednesday on his first trip abroad since the early days of the coronavirus pandemic, ahead of a meeting with Russian leader Vladimir Putin.

Their highly-anticipated meeting comes as Russia suffers serious setbacks in Ukraine, but China has stood firm in its support of Putin and their "no limits" friendship. During a meeting with President Kassym-Jomart Tokayev, Xi vowed full support for Kazakhstan's sovereignty at a time when the ex-Soviet Central Asian region has been spooked by Russia's invasion of Ukraine. "No matter how the international situation changes, we will continue to resolutely support Kazakhstan in protecting its independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity," Xi said, according to a Kazakh government statement.

Beijing "firmly supports the reform measures President (Tokayev) has taken to maintain national stability and development, and firmly opposes any forces that interfere in Kazakhstan's internal affairs," Xi said. Tokayev hailed Xi's visit as a reunion of "historic importance", saying the Chinese leader's decision to visit Nur-Sultan first since the start of the pandemic was a sign of "high-level... mutual trust and cooperation".

The Central Asian region, which Russia sees as in its sphere of influence, is key to China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI).

Wary of potential Russian meddling in northern Kazakhstan's large Russian population, Kazakh officials have reached out to the European Union, Turkey and other countries in recent months, Bloomberg reported.

Byju's losses surge to over ₹4,550 cr in FY21

Co says since new revenue recognition started in FY21, nearly 40% of revenue was deferred to subsequent years

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@Bengaluru

EDTECH major Byju's has reported a consolidated loss of ₹4,588 crore in FY21, up from over ₹260 crore in the previous fiscal. After nearly 18 months delay, Byju's parent Think and Learn on Wednesday disclosed its financial results for FY21. The group's revenue in FY21 stood at ₹2,428 crore, as against ₹2,511 crore in FY20.

The company is yet to file the results with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA).

The company, which has received an unqualified report for FY21 from its auditor, Deloitte Haskins & Sells, said there was a significant business growth in FY21 over FY20, but since this is the first year where new revenue recognition started because of a COVID-related business model change, nearly 40% of the revenue was deferred to subsequent years.

The rationalised growth between FY21 and FY20 is a result of the changes made in the way Byju's recognises its revenue, as advised by its auditors, the company said.

Tiger Global-backed edtech company has been acquiring many companies - Toppr, Epic!, Aakash, WhiteHat Jr, 2U, among others - over the past few months. It may be noted that the group companies-WhiteHat Jr and Toppr, together have laid off nearly 500 employees recently.

However, the company on Wednesday said that its acquisitions across segments over the last year have seen substantial growth. Aakash in the test prep segment and Great Learning in the higher education segment have doubled their revenues since acquisition.Osmo and Epic! are scaling up rapidly in North America, in terms of both adoption and engagement. Tynker has grown to be the largest coding community for children, globally, it said. The company also said that it registered about ₹10,000 crore in gross revenues in FY 22 and its K-12 education business is showing accelerated growth. Between April-July 2022, the company logged a revenue of ₹4,530 crore.

It is also planning to increase its tuition centres from the present 200 to 500 centres by the end of this year. Though the edtech company discussed its hiring plans, tuition centres and so on, the company didn't disclose anything about the delay in securing $250 million funds from Sumeru Ventures and Oxshott, and its plan to raise over $500 million in future.

Byju's loss widens

- Byju's consolidated loss in FY21 stood at ₹4,588 cr
- FY21 revenue is at ₹2,428 cr
- Registers ₹10,000 cr in gross revenues in FY22
- Between April and July 2022, the company logged a revenue of ₹4,530 cr

- Plans to hire 10,000 more teachers in the coming year
- It became the first edtech company to be an official sponsor of the FIFA World Cup

NEED TO DEMERGE LAND FOR PSU SALE: PANDEY

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

IN order to make strategic disinvestment of government companies through privatisation smoother, some legal changes need to be made in context of landholding of these companies, disinvestment secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey said on Wednesday.

"We need to expand the internal capacity and do some legal changes for the strategic disinvestment of CPSEs through privatisation. It is important as lot of government companies have got land at very important places as real estate," Pandey said at a FICCI event.

The secretary said it is important to demerge land from the operating companies as the process would become quick and a better value can be discovered.

"So to bundle it (land) with the operating companies, neither the bidders would be interested because it will be very costly, nor it is necessary. You can't load real estate into operating companies as you have to be nimble and the better value will be discovered if they are demerged," Pandey stated.

He said once the demerger of land and non-core assets of some CPSEs complete, the government would begin the strategic sale process.

The Corporate Affairs ministry recently cleared the demerger of land and non-core assets of BEML to BEML Land Assets Ltd.

Meanwhile, Pandey also said in the present context of economy, there is a need to unshackle investment opportunity in terms of strategic disinvestment via privatisation. As per him, in next 7 to 8 years, $10 billion of investment will come in Neelachal Ispat Nigam.

"In next 7 to 8 years, in Neelachal Ispat Nigam Ltd, 10 billion dollars of investment will come. We are also looking at Kalinga Nagar as the most cost-effective steel making hub in the world with 18 to 20 mln tonnes of capacity," Pandey added.

We need to expand the internal capacity and do some legal changes for the strategic disinvestment of Central Public Sector Enterprises through privatisation

ED conducts searches on Paytm, PayU premises

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@Bengaluru

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) is said to be carrying out searches on multiple locations of fintech firm Paytm and Payment solutions provider PayU in connection with the Chinese loan apps case.

For over a few weeks now, the agency has been conducting money laundering investigations against many NBFCs and their fintech partners for predatory lending practices in violation of the RBI guidelines. Recently, it searched the premises of Razorpay, Cashfree Payments and Paytm.

While PayU didn't comment on the search operation, Paytm spokesperson said, "As we have mentioned before, ED continues to seek information about certain merchants from various payment service providers, and we have shared the required information." In the first week of September, after conducting search operations at six premises in Bengaluru, the ED said during the search operation, it was noticed that the said entities were generating proceeds of crime through various merchant IDs/accounts held with payment gateways/banks and they are also not operating from the addresses given on the MCA website/registered address and having fake addresses. It seized ₹17 crore in merchant IDs and bank accounts controlled by entities run by Chinese persons. Cryptoexchange WazirX, whose bank account was unfrozen by ED recently, said the probe agency has been conducting an investigation of 16 fintech companies and Instant loan apps.

Indian mkt withstands global sell-off

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

INDIA'S equity market showed its strength on Wednesday even as the US benchmark indices witnessed their sharpest fall in over two years on Tuesday following a higher-than-expected inflation number for the month of August.

Domestic benchmark, the BSE Sensex, recouped 930 points from the day's low to close at 60,347, down 224 points or 0.37%. The Nifty50, meanwhile, recovered from a low of 17,771 to end at 18,004, down 66 points or 0.37%. Banking stocks, along with metals, helped the domestic market to the bounce back despite heavy sell-off seen in the IT stocks.

The recovery came even as there was a meltdown on most asian stock exchanges, with Nikkei 225 falling nearly 3% and Hang Seng shrugging 2.48%.

"The global stock market carnage had a rub-off effect on Indian equities, but benchmark indices pared most of their losses to end above their psychological levels thanks to buying in banking & metal stocks. However, inflation has remained a key concern across the globe and higher-than-expected rate hikes by the US central bank could fuel pessimism amongst investors going ahead," said Shrikant Chouhan, Head of Equity Research (Retail), Kotak Securities.

The expectation that the US Federal Reserve would become less hawkish, which had spurred the most recent global rally, was dashed by worse-than-anticipated US inflation figures. The consumer price index (CPI) in the US showed an annual pace of 8.3%. This, according to analysts, gives room to the Fed next week to go for a 75-basis-point rate hike.

Talking about Wednesday's recovery, Ajit Mishra, VP - Research, Religare Broking, said that the domestic market is in strong hands and such a strong recovery amid the global mayhem has further strengthened our belief.

Wholesale inflation in August moderates to 12.4% from 13.9% in July

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

WHOLESALE inflation in August moderated to 12.4% from 13.9% in July on account of an easing in inflation in the fuel and power, crude petroleum, primary non-food articles, and manufactured food and non-food product segments.

Though the wholesale inflation has come down from the peak of 15.9% in May this year, it continues to remain in double-digit, now for 17 consecutive months.

In August, wholesale fuel and power inflation eased significantly to 33.7% from 43.8% in July. The mineral oil index dropped to 45.4% from 59.2% in July, on the back of decline in international oil prices. Electricity price index also cooled off to 25.7% in August from 32.4% in July.

"On a month-on-month basis, the overall index indicates that fuel and power inflation continues to soften, mainly on the basis of a dip in fuel and power inflation. While the coal price index was flat for the 8th consecutive month in August, there is a build-up of prices visible in the electricity price index," says a Bank of Baroda report.

However the wholesale food inflation rebounded to 9.9% in August from the 9.4% in July 2022, signaling the trend for primary food inflation.

Except prices of milk, all other sub-categories of food items registered an increase in inflation. Vegetables prices rose 22.3% in August, compared to 18.3% in July, fruits registered a 31.7% growth in inflation as against 29.4% in July, while cereals prices grew by 11.8% compared to 9.8% in July. However, according to an ICRA Rating report, the WPI inflation is likely to ease to 13% in Q2 FY2023 from 16.1% in Q1 FY2023, before slipping into single digits by October 2022, after a gap of 18 months, if the downtrend in commodity prices sustains.

Wholesale inflation remains in double digits

Though wholesale inflation has come down from peak of 15.9% in May this year, it continues to remain in double-digit now for 17 consecutive months

Vaishnaw urges telecom service providers to improve services

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

TELECOM minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Wednesday urged the telecom service providers (TSPs) to focus on improving the quality of service by three to four times from current level.

The minister, while addressing the Digital Infrastructure Providers Association's (DIPA) annual conference, said the Prime Minister Narendra Modi constantly reviews each and every aspect of the telecom industry, thus it is now up to the telecom service providers or the infrastructure providers to come up with better quality of service.

"I will be requesting TRAI to send a new consultation paper on increasing the quality of service parameters so that whatever is the quality of service that we are seeing today should now improve significantly," said the minister. His comment assumes significance as there are many reports of call drops and patchy networks.

The minister said the journey of 5G is going to be a very exciting journey and noted that many countries took multiple years to reach 50% 40% coverage. "We are targeting a very, very aggressive timeline. The government has given a target of 80% coverage in a short timeframe. We should definitely cover at least 80% in a very short time frame," said Vaishnaw.

The minister also said the government is coming up with the second reform for the telecom industry. "So, the key takeaways from today's session are that there will be very soon another wave of reforms," said the minister.

The minister is also concerned about power consumption by mobile towers and called it a big issue. He asked the industry people to come up with a solution, which can reduce the carbon footprint of the telecom industry.

"How can we use more and more renewable energy or something like green energy," asked the minister. "Please come up with some sort of solution, which can really reduce the power and carbon footprint of the telecom industry. It is the one item which I'll request you to come up with some options," requested the minister.

SBI ready to open rupee trade account with Russian banks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

STATE BANK OF INDIA, which was earlier reluctant to open rupee trade accounts with Russian banks, seems to have moved forward on this front and is looking for a tie-up with Russian banks.

Sources told TNIE that SBI and a few other banks have sought permission from the RBI to open rupee trade accounts with Russian banks. Earlier, it was reported the SBI was not keen on tying-up with Russian banks to facilitate trade in local currency, fearing sanctions on Russia from the US authorities. However, it seems pressure from the RBI has brought about the change in SBI's stance. "SBI will have to look for tying up with a Russian Bank with no sanctions," an exporter told TNIE. It is to be mentioned here that TNIE on 13 September reported that the RBI has insisted upon banks to expedite the process of opening up of Vostro accounts to clear dues to Russian exporters. Recently, RBI officials and bankers held a meeting in this regard with finance ministry and commerce ministry officials. TNIE had also reported that the framework for opening up of Vostro accounts has already been laid down by RBI. ## Uthappa retires from all forms of Indian cricket

2007 T20 World Cup winner Robin Uthappa has announced his retirement from all forms of Indian cricket. The Karnataka right-hander was a part of Chennai Super Kings in the latest edition of the IPL. "... all good things must come to an end and with a grateful heart I have decided to retire from all forms of Indian cricket," he said in a statement.

BACKGROUND CHECK: RUN-UP TO WEDNESDAY'S SC VERDICT ON BCCI

AUGUST 2018

SC approves BCCI's new consitution based on the Lodha Committee recommendations with minor tweaks. One-state-one-vote policy and the one term cooling-off period weren't accepted. Instead, the SC gave a six-year run in office across state units and BCCI.

OCTOBER 2019

New office-bearers take charge in BCCI with Sourav Ganguly as president and Jay Shah as secretary. Both had previously been with Bengal and Gujarat state associations, respectively. And as per the constitution, they had less than a year in office.

DECEMBER 2019

BCCI propose amendments to the constitution at the apex court contesting that the cooling-off period should kick in once they took office at the BCCI along with other amendments including modifying the disqualification criteria, giving unprecedented powers to the board secretary, and court not having a say if the BCCI wants to alter its constitution in future.

DECEMBER 2022

After several adjournements, the SC finally heard the case and has given a verdict. As per the judgement, a person can hold office for two terms at a stretch in both state associations and the BCCI, giving a maximum of four terms across bodies. As a result of the verdict both Ganguly and Shah will get another full term with the BCCI should they contest in the upcoming elections in October 2022.

CHANGE OF GUARD EXPECTED AT THE AGM

Shah might replace Ganguly as president of BCCI at the annual general body meet in October after Supreme Court clears deck for both to seek another term

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

WHAT a difference the words "or" and "and" can make! In what came as a major sigh of relief for the Indian cricket board (BCCI) members, a Supreme Court bench led by Justices DY Chandrachud and Hima Kohli agreed on allowing the BCCI to amend the cooling-off period in its constitution, paving the way for incumbents secretary Jay Shah and president Sourav Ganguly to seek another term. And the two words that seem integral to the change are 'or' and 'and'.

The cooling-off period has been the bone of contention among other issues for the BCCI officials and approached the Supreme Court. Among others, the BCCI has been requesting the SC that it be allowed to make amendments as proposed by the general body of the body. As per the original SC order in 2017, any office-bearer who has completed six years (two three-year term) in a state unit or BCCI were supposed to undergo a three-year mandatory cooling-off period.

And after hearing BCCI's arguments which wanted the Supreme Court to relax the cooling-off clause to allow continuity, a key change has been allowed. Now an office-bearer need not undergo a mandatory cooling-off period after completing six years at a state unit if he moves to BCCI. This means an individual now can hold a BCCI/state unit position cumulatively for 12 years without a cooling-off period.

As per 6(4) of the BCCI constitution: "An office-bearer who has held any post for two consecutive terms in either a state association or in the BCCI (or a combination of both) shall not be eligible to contest any further election without completing a cooling-off period three years."

And following the apex court order on Wednesday, this is how 6 (4) may look like in the updated constitution. "An office-bearer who has held any post for two consecutive terms in either a state association and in the BCCI shall not be eligible to contest any further election without completing a cooling-off period three years." "We are extremely thankful to the Supreme Court for allowing us to make these amendments. It was something proposed at the general body of the BCCI," board treasurer Arun Kumar Dhumal told this daily. "Continuity always helps in long term planning for any organisation. If you look at the history of the BCCI, even without any amendments to the constitution, no president has stayed more than three years in office. We are happy that the court took cognizance of that fact and has accepted our request," Dhumal added.

Sourav Ganguly (R) will most likely move to the ICC in some capacity with Arun Kumar Dhumal (L) front-runner to become the secretary of BCCI | SPORTZPICS

While the amendment means some of the old guard may feel hard done by as they had relinquished their posts in 2019, it has now cleared the decks for Shah and Ganguly to carry on for another term. However, when the BCCI calls for the annual general meeting — which is likely to be mid-October — one expects a change of guard.

Ganguly, who became the first former player to head the BCCI on a permanent basis in 2019, is unlikely to continue in the chair. It is understood that the former India captain will most likely move to the International Cricket Council in some capacity. In the likelihood of Ganguly not continuing as the president, it is understood that Shah may replace him for the top post.

Treasurer Dhumal is a front-runner to become the new secretary. Karnataka State Cricket Association's secretary Santosh Menon's name is doing the rounds to replace joint-secretary Jayesh George. Rajeev Shukla, who is the vice-president, is likely to hold on to the post after the apex court cleared the way for public servants to become office-bearers. Bureaucrats and ministers will continue to be prohibited from being office-bearers.

With regards to Ganguly, although is eligible to continue, the former India captain doesn't enjoy a good equation with the rest. In fact, in 2019 when the elections for the BCCI were held under new constitution, he was a late entrant to the president's post. He was more of a circumstantial candidate. Moreover, Ganguly doesn't enjoy the backing of a majority of state units, which is needed to get the votes.

Shah, though, continues to enjoy the support of state units and is expected to face no competition. As for other posts, it remains to be seen if any other faction puts a candidate.

Karman falls short against Bouchard

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

FOR ten minutes, Karman Kaur Thandi raised visions of a third set. The forehand winners were flowing, her first serve percentages were up and the unforced errors were conspicuous by their absence. At 2-5 on the Eugenie Bouchard serve, the Indian, who had played one previous match in the second round at this level, the third set seemed like a matter of when and not if.

That's when the Canadian, a Wimbledon finalist in 2014, reeled off three games. However, Thandi played a hospitable host to perfection as she squandered two set points on her serve at 5-4.

Bouchard broke before holding serve to restore parity. Cheered on by a small but loud, sometimes unruly crowd — the chair umpire had to step in on multiple times to remind them to maintain silence during points — Thandi held her nerve to hold serve after deuce. Her opponent did likewise to push it to a tie-breaker. There, Thandi conceded the first point on serve. It looked like an uphill task from there on and so it proved it to be. The 28-year-old showed her big-points experience to take the match 6-2, 7-6 (2).

Even though the 24-year-old lost, when she allows the dust to settle, she will be relatively okay with the performances she dished out in this tournament. In the first round, India's No 2 showcased her big weapon — that booming forehand drives from the baseline — against the eight seed Chloe Paquet. Against Bouchard too, those forehand passing shots helped her get out of jail a few times. One winner — she lunged sideways at a Bouchard first serve before hitting a crosscourt passing shot that left the Canadian as a spectator — caught the eye. At other moments too, she used that big weapon of hers to win some points.

Canada's Eugenie Bouchard in action against India's Karman Kaur Thandi in the second round of Chennai Open at SDAT Stadium on Wednesday | MARTIN LOUIS

What, though, cost her was two things. Her first serve let her down at the fag end of the second set in that it was non-existent. Her backhand, the weakest area of her game, failed to supplement the forehand side of the game.

So, she tried to kill some points with her forehand and that was leading to unforced errors. Even very early in the match, Thandi was running around to hit with her forehand. But matches like this will do her a world of good in the long run.

Matches like this would have also done Bouchard a world of good. At two hours and 13 minutes, it's one of the longest she has been involved in in recent times.

After coming back from a long injury, it's important to get some matches under your belt that tests your own physical conditioning. Just as she was beginning to feel the conditions and the lactic acid in her legs, she found that bit extra to advance to the quarterfinals. "She (Thandi) was controlling the points in the second set," Bouchard said after the match. "I got back (in the end). Sweat management was key. I'm right now sweating out of my shoe. I will probably bring another pair with me for the next match."

SELECT RESULTS (2ND RD): Eugenie Bouchard bt Karman Kaur Thandi 6-2, 7-6 (2), Linda Fruhvirtova bt Rebecca Peterson 6-4, 6-2, Nao Hibino bt Wang Qiang 6-2, 6-3.

Swiatek is in some other galaxy: Linette

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

AFTER Poland had beaten then newly-minted FIFA men's world champions Germany in October 2014, news started to do the rounds. Poland's win — their first victory ever over their neighbours — came as such a pleasant shock that the government decided the next day would be a national holiday (the next day happened to be a Sunday). Almost eight years later, football is still the king among sports in Poland. But one 21-year-old woman is challenging that hegemony. Iga Swiatek. Having won three Slams and creating several records in the process, it's easy to see why even in a country that has enjoyed some tennis success — Agnieszka Radwanska (former World No 2 and Wimbledon finalist in 2012) and Jerzy Janowicz (former World No 14 and Wimbledon semifinalist in 2013) — Swiatek has put tennis front and centre.

Magda Linette

One only has to listen to Magda Linette, who was Polish No 1 for a few years after Radwanska retired. Linette, the third seed at the ongoing Chennai Open, says 'tennis is booming in Poland' right now. "We had a No 2 and now No 1 in the world. And a top 10 in the men's (Hubert Hurkacz). Right now, it's booming. I think Aga (Agnieszka) started it and with Iga now, it's absolutely exploded. I hope that it's going to be something really nice. It's going pretty great and I hope there will be more young boys and girls playing tennis. "When Iga was starting, we practiced quite a lot. Now, obviously, she's in some other galaxy. (laughs) But yes, we are friendly." Off late, Linette has been sending a lot of congratulatory messages to her compatriot, who's nine years her junior. " (do you stay in touch?) I did send her a congratulatory message after every win... which is almost every week (laughs). You can call that as staying in touch, yeah (laughs)." Swiatek's rise has also put the focus on women's sports in Poland. Linette was very intimate to a question on how Swiatek's fame compares with that of Robert Lewandowski, the national team forward who plays for Barcelona in La Liga. "I think with Iga it's unbelievable how it's shifting and this is wonderful to see," she said. "It was not only about Lewa (Lewandowski), it was more about the whole general idea of football, volleyball, handball, ski-jumping... it was always men's. And now with Iga, she's actually doing something really amazing because right now we have so much publicity as women and this is really wonderful."

Kumar began his journey with tennis at the Asian Championships in 1949 before ruling the Indian tennis along with Ramanathan Krishnan for close to a decade in the 1950s.

Equestrian rider Fouaad eyes glory at world meet

NEW DELHI: Ace Indian equestrian rider Fouaad Mirza is aiming for a big run as he participates in the FEI World Championship Eventing 2022, scheduled to kick-start in Pratoni del Vivaro, Italy on Thursday. He is the lone Indian to have qualified for the 15th edition of the World Championship Eventing. The historic venue had earlier hosted the eventing discipline of the 1960 Olympics.

Vinesh 1st woman from India to win medal twice

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AS has been the case for quite some years now, wrestler Vinesh Phogat was one of the favourites at the ongoing World Championships in Belgrade, Serbia. The 2019 Worlds bronze medallist, however, lost 0-7 to Mongolia's Khulan Batkhuyag in the qualification round on Tuesday much to the surprise of all and sundry.

The Mongolian wrestler entered the final giving a new lease of life to Vinesh's campaign. And the 28-year-old Vinesh didn't let the opportunity slip out of her hand this time as she won two bouts in the repechage round (one via injury) and the bronze medal play-off to became the first Indian woman to bag two Worlds medals. The medal was also India's first at the ongoing event.

In the bronze medal bout, she outclassed Emma Jonna Denise Malmgren from Sweden 8-0. She had won 53kg bronze in the 2019 edition and qualified for the Tokyo Olympics. Vinesh earned two points in a counter-attack move in the first minute of the first period against Malmgren, the 2021 Junior Worlds champion in 53kg. The Indian, however, also hurt her right knee a few seconds later giving her opponent an opportunity to keep attacking her right leg. Incidentally, she had injured her right knee during the 2016 Rio Olympics as well and had to be stretchered off the mat.

"The swelling is there but I don't think it's serious. She is expected to be fit again soon," Jitendra Yadav, head of the women's team, told this daily from Serbia after the bout. Speaking on Vinesh's loss in the qualification round, the coach said, "It happens as the wrestler from Mongolia is also a good wrestler. We were quite sure that the Mongolian wrestler will reach the final giving Vinesh a shot at bronze. A Worlds bronze is not a lesser achievement," the coach added. Vinesh recently became the first Indian woman wrestler to claim a hat-trick of gold at the Birmingham Commonwealth Games. This was her fifth appearance at the Worlds.

Mandhana makes merry, takes series to decider

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN Smriti Mandhana turned up for the pre-match press conference on Monday ahead of the second T20I against England, she didn't mince words. She acknowledged that despite the conditions in Durham, where the first T20I was played, not being 100 per cent, the batters did not do enough to put up a competitive total on board for the spin-heavy bowling attack. India women eventually lost the match by nine wickets. "As a batting unit, definitely, we have not been doing our best from the 12th to 20th overs. Those are areas where even at CWG there was a match or two where we actually could not get to a score from where we started off. We want to address that as a team," she said.

The southpaw has been in glorious touch. She's been timing the ball like a dream. There were two fifties in the CWG, one in The Hundred, but the big scores weren't coming as often as she would have liked. In a few words, she was rather the aggressor, setting the tone early on, than the anchor who plays through the innings. However, that meant, in the middle-order without Jemimah Rodrigues, India were left with significant uncertainty in the first T20I.

On Tuesday, in Derby, despite letting the momentum go off after reducing England to 5/54, 143 wasn't a daunting target. And for Mandhana, the mission was clear. Take the team home and keep the series alive. And that is exactly what she did, smashing an unbeaten 79, along with her captain and favourite batting partner in Harmanpreet Kaur as India chased down the total with ease. Through the 53-ball knock, she looked imperial. There were back foot punches, pulls and lofts off the spinners, and some occasional scoop shots as well. It was an extension of the short bursts she was providing of late.

Brief scores: England 142/6 in 20 ovs (Kemp 51 n.o; Rana 3/24) lost to India 146/2 in 16.4 overs (Mandhana 79 n.o).

Big wins for Bayern & Liverpool

Bayern Munich beat Barcelona as Robert Lewandowski returned to face his former club on Tuesday, while Liverpool got the better of Ajax to get their Champions League campaign up and running.

Bayern two good

How Lewandowski, the man in form, would fare against his old club was one of the main talking points heading into the match. The Barca striker came close to opening the scoring in the first half but it was Bayern who went in front five minutes into the second half when Lucas Hernandez headed in from a corner. Leroy Sane burst through four minutes later to make it 2-0 as Julian Nagelsmann's Bayern made it two wins out of two in the group.

Matip the hero

Mohamed Salah shook off a poor run of form to put Jurgen Klopp's side ahead in the 17th minute, only for the Dutch champions to equalise before the half-hour courtesy of an emphatic finish from Mohammed Kudus. Liverpool were heading for a third game without a win in all competitions until Joel Matip rose in front of the Kop to head in from a corner in the 89th minute, the ball crossing the line before it could be cleared out.

UEFA CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

TUESDAY'S RESULTS

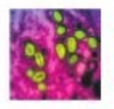
Group C: Bayern Munich 2-0 Barcelona; Viktoria Plzen 0-2 Inter Milan.

Group D: Marseille 0-1 Eintracht Frankfurt; Sporting 2-0 Tottenham.

Syria's first major cholera outbreak in over a decade has killed seven people and infected more than 50, the health ministry said, amid widespread damage to water treatment infrastructure



A second US death was linked to monkeypox as health authorities published a study describing how two previously healthy young men experienced inflammation of the brain and spinal cord as a result of the virus

FACT OF THE MATTER

Fungal outbreak threatens bat

WILDLIFE

Federal officials announced plans to list the tricolored bat as endangered—the second US bat species recommended for the designation this year as a fungal disease ravages their populations. The tricolored are among a dozen North American bats afflicted by white-nose syndrome, which disrupts their crucial winter hibernation. White-nose syndrome has caused a 90% decline of tricolored bats. The endangered listing would prompt the Fish and Wildlife Service to work with industry, landowners and others on ways to limit harm. More than 150 government agencies, tribes and nonprofits are researching how to stop white-nose syndrome and help bats recover, the service said.

Gaming firm gets its first license

TECH

China's second largest gaming firm NetEase has received its first online game license in over a year in a possible sign Beijing is gradually easing a crackdown on the industry. The National Press and Publication Administration, which issues licenses for video games, published a list of approvals for 73 games. In August 2021, regulators stopped issuing gaming licenses as they tightened restrictions on the industry. They resumed approvals in April. Tencent, nation's biggest gaming company, has not gotten any games approved since then. In cracking down on the technology industry, Beijing implemented regulations for online gaming and financial technology.

Xinjiang faces hunger

HEALTH

Residents of a city in China's far western Xinjiang region say they are experiencing hunger, forced quarantines and dwindling supplies of medicine and daily necessities after more than 40 days in a virus lockdown. Hundreds of posts from Ghulja riveted users of Chinese social media last week, with residents sharing videos of empty refrigerators, feverish children and people shouting from their windows. The dire conditions and food shortages are reminiscent of a harsh lockdown in Shanghai earlier this year, when thousands of residents posted complaints online that they were delivered rotting vegetables or denied critical medical care. But unlike in Shanghai, the harsh lockdowns in smaller cities such as Ghulja have received less attention until recently. The lockdown in Ghulja is also evoking fears of police brutality among the Uyghurs.

Google suffers setback as EU court upholds $4B fine

Disappointed with the decision, the tech giant says that Android has created more choice for everyone and supports thousands of businesses

Google exhibit shows off a variety of devices with Google Assistant | AP

TECH

LONDON: A top court largely rejected Google's appeal of a record European Union antitrust fine imposed for throttling competition and reducing consumer choice through the dominance of its mobile Android operating system. It marks another win for EU regulators taking a global lead in controlling the power of big tech companies.

The European Court of Justice's General Court mostly confirmed a 2018 decision by the EU's executive Commission to slap Google with a fine of more than $3.99 billion.

"In order better to reflect the gravity and duration of the infringement," it's appropriate to give Google a fine of 4.125 billion euros, the court said.

That's slightly lower than the original 4.34 billion euro penalty, with the court saying its reasoning differed "in certain respects" from the commission's.

"We are disappointed that the Court did not annul the decision in full," Google said in a statement. "Android has created more choice for everyone, not less, and supports thousands of successful businesses in Europe and around the world."

The company has previously argued that free and open-source Android has resulted in low-cost phones and driven competition with its chief rival, Apple. Android is the most popular mobile operating system, beating even Apple's iOS.

Google's practices reduces options for customers

In its original decision, the European Commission said Google's practices restrict competition and reduce choices for consumers. It determined that Google broke EU rules by requiring smartphone makers to take a bundle of Google apps if they wanted any at all and prevented them from selling devices with altered versions of Android.

The complainants welcomed the decision as it confirmed that Google "can no longer impose its will on phone makers", said Thomas Vinje, a lawyer representing the industry group FairSearch, whose original complaint launched the case in 2013. "This shows the European Commission got it right," he added.

The fine is one of three antitrust penalties totaling more than $8 billion that the European Commission slapped on Google between 2017 and 2019, putting the 27-nation bloc at the forefront of the global push to rein in tech giants.

Since then, the commission has widened its crackdown on digital giants with more antitrust investigations targeting Amazon, Apple and Facebook and sweeping new rules aimed at clamping down on the biggest digital companies.

Tech companies are now facing tighter scrutiny around the world: Google also got hit with a $50 million fine on Wednesday by South Korean privacy watchdogs that also fined Facebook parent Meta $22 million.

Health groups call for fossil fuel treaty

CLIMATE

PARIS: Around 200 health organisations and more than 1,400 health professionals on Wednesday called for governments to establish a binding international treaty on phasing out fossil fuels, which they said pose "a grave and escalating threat to human health".

A letter proposing the "fossil fuel non-proliferation treaty" said it could work similarly to the WHO's Framework Convention on Tobacco Control—except this time the harmful controlled substances would be coal, oil and gas.

The WHO was among the health organisations from around the world who signed the letter. "The modern addiction to fossil fuels is not just an act of environmental vandalism. From the health perspective, it is an act of self-sabotage," WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said.

The letter called on national governments to develop and implement a legally binding mechanism that would immediately stop all future fossil fuel expansion, as well as phasing out existing production.

It emphasised that the transition should be carried out in "a fair and equitable manner," and that high-income countries should support lower-income nations to ensure the change "reduces poverty rather than exacerbating it".

The letter also pointed to the heightened health risks faced by the workers who extract, refine, transport and distribute fossil fuels and related products.

Phasing out fossil fuels would prevent 3.6 million deaths a year from air pollution alone, the letter said, adding that "the same cannot be said for proposed false solutions, such as carbon capture and storage".

Courtney Howard, an emergency physician in Canada's sub-Arctic region who signed the letter, said that Yellowknife had some of the worst air quality in the world when it was ringed by wildfires in 2014.

Jeni Miller, the executive director of the Global Climate and Health Alliance which helped coordinate the letter, called for international dialogue to make the treaty a reality. "The costs of inaction are increasing," she said.

DR Congo fishermen pin hopes on tourism as stocks dwindle

CULTURE

KISANGANI: Fishermen perch precariously on wooden scaffolds stretching over turbulent rapids in northeastern Democratic Republic Congo, hauling up wicker baskets in the hope of catching tilapia or a Nile perch—a time-honoured practice now threatened by overfishing.

Basket fishing was once the lifeblood of the Wagenya community, feeding them handsomely on a section of the mighty Congo River close to Kisangani, a city in Tshopo province. But fish numbers have dwindled in recent years and the fishermen see little help from the government.

Many people, like 16-year-old student Kalimo, get by selling handcrafted dioramas of traditional Wagenya life to the few tourists who visit the impoverished area.

"It helps me to pay for school," said the teenager, who was selling wooden models of small stick men holding large fish, for $10. Kalimo, whose father is a fisherman, wants to become an engineer.

On top of the problems with fish, the Wagenya—split between three main clans and five sub-clans are bickering among themselves. The position of traditional chief, who serves as an intermediary between the community and the government, is unfilled because of factional infighting.

Augustin Tangausi, a fisherman pointed to what he calls the 'small fishery' by the rapids, which are known as the Wagenya Falls.

Wooden poles are wedged into holes in the rocks and tied together with lianas to form scaffolds. Baskets are then dropped from the scaffolding into the roaring currents to trap fish. "There were installations everywhere before," says Tangausi. "But now there are hardly any".

The government once subsidised maintenance of the elaborate scaffolds, he said, but stopped doing so over a decade ago.

GODS IN THE MAKING

As Durga Puja approaches, work is going on in full swing in Bengaluru with idol makers working on the double to complete their creations for the various puja associations in the city

TUNIR BISWAS

THE months of September and October have always been marked important in the calendars of the natives of West Bengal and the Bengalis residing in the rest of the country and the world. It largely means one thing: Pujo is arriving. In Kolkata, Durga Puja is celebrated with much pomp and dazzle. From the fifth day, Panchami, the city-wide celebrations begin, and it goes on till day 10, Dashami, and sometimes a day or two beyond that. But that's all the way in the East of India. What's happening in Bengaluru, a city almost 2,000 km away from Kolkata? And more importantly, where does this city get its Puja idols from?

Turns out, the garden city is not too far behind the city of joy. Partly due to the large migrated Bengali population in Bengaluru, multiple associations are gearing up for the festival and idol makers have come from West Bengal to make Durgas for everyone. "The first step is to choose the idol. Our idol maker is Tarun Pal, who has been making idols for us since 2018. He is from Kolkata and comes here during this season. He usually sets up his shop in North Bengaluru, and he has been making idols in this city for the last 50 years," says Priyanka Roy, publicity head, Bengali Association for the Residents of Sarjapur and HSR Layout Area (BARSHA). Aside from the idol, the decoration, which include the crown and the various vessels and ornaments, are brought from Kolkata.

Tarun Pal has been making idols for various Bengaluru Durga Puja associations for the last 50 years. "It all started when my father, Sudhir Pal, had come to Bengaluru to make idols for two Puja associations, one for the Bengalee Association, the city's oldest Bengali association, and another one for the Socio Cultural Association, Indiranagar," says Pal, who comes to Bengaluru from Kolkata in June to start his idol-making process. "Back then, we used to go to various places to make the idols as we didn't have a permanent place for our work. Then, folks at the Bengalee Association asked us to do our work in their hall in Ulsoor. We started making the idols there for every association we were working with. We did that for 27 years. Since 2011, we have been making our idols in Cox Town," shares Pal, adding that when they resume their work in June, they also make idols for other festivals like Ganesh Chaturthi and Kali Puja.

The Puja organised by Bongo Dhara Cultural Association is completely locally sourced, meaning everything from the idol to its decoration is made in Bengaluru. "Our idol maker for this rendition of Durga Puja is Jayadev Pal, who also made the idol for our first pujo in 2019," says Kaustav Debnath, joint-secretary of the association.

Since their puja is relatively new, the first two years were held inside the Bhartiya City campus. However, since 2021, they have been organising it outside right opposite the Bhartiya City Discovery Centre.

Just as Bongo Dhara is locally sourced, their idol maker for this year Jayadev Pal has also been a native of this city for over 30 years. "I have been making idols in Bengaluru since 1991 when I moved here. Back then, I used to make idols for three pujas, at Rajajinagar, RT Nagar and another at Hotel Geo. A lot has changed for the better since then. We now make idols for over 100 Durga Pujas here," says Jayadev Pal, who shares that their work for this year's Puja has been in the works for the past five months.

PUJO SPECIAL EDITION

Ananda Mela Bangalore will be celebrating the occasion of Mahalaya, which marks the beginning of the Durga Puja, with 'Jago Durga' on September 24 at Hotel Tulip Inn, Koramangala. It will include cultural programmes, fun games and competitions, a quiz, Dhunuchi Naach, and other attractions along with a dinner comprising Bengali cuisine. They will launch Bengaluru's first Bengali magazine, Ananda Barta, a pujo special edition, which will include 25 Bengali write-ups written by the common man. "The Bengali culture is deep-rooted and not just about draping a red-bordered white saree, dhuti panjabi, and rosogolla. The essence of Bengal will allow Bengalis here to feel at home with their culture. We will also conduct a fashion show that will showcase the evolution of Bengali attire," says Samhati Bhattacharjya, founder, Ananda Mela, Bangalore.

Matching with modern times

EXPRESS FEATURES

SAREES never go out of fashion. The only thing that has probably changed is that it has evolved with time. It's great to see when tradition meets modern choices. Nalli's new designer collection Birds of Paradise is about that. The collection, which is going to be launched on Sept. 20, at Bangalore International Centre, is about silk organza sarees in vibrant prints of lush tropical. Each saree is printed with hand-illustrated designs in deep hues and pastel colours. This collection has 16 designs with colour variations.

The 90-year-old brand is exploring modern prints. However, Lavanya Nalli, chairperson of the brand, says the fabrics have traditional routes. "We will be working on something that's a craft that originated in Europe in the 16th century and was brought to India by missionaries who settled along the Kankyakumari coast. Now, this craftform has become quintessentially Indian, and in its finesse and craftsmanship is rarely seen in other parts of the world," says Lavanya.

As the name suggests, the designs are inspired by tropical scenery and kaleidoscopic birds. "Serene beauty to raw boldness convey the design mood. This sheer saree is printed in the colours of earth. Different collections have different birds," she explains.

Bharatanatyam dancer Savitha Sastry's short film Arangetram is a breezy family entertainer, a genre that is hard to come by these days

Unfinished goals

MONIKA MONALISA

MANY of us were enrolled for classes for various arts during our childhood. And many have pursued it further, while some have left practice midway. Just like Kavitha in the short film, Arangetram. However, she was lucky to have a family who helped her complete her Arangetram. This film also stars several cine and television artistes from Kollywood, including Kausalya Natarajan and Zeeba Ashrin, who play important supporting cast members.

The film starring Savitha Sastry and directed by AK Srikanth, is a tribute to cinema of breezy comedies by stalwarts such as Amol Palekar, Hrishikesh Mukherjee and Basu Chatterjee. "This is a genre that is very different from the usual. In my mind, it's about telling a story like RK Narayan would, something like Swami and Friends or Malgudi Days. It has the essence of Hrishikesh Mukherjee's Gol Maal that the entire family can watch," explains Sastry.

The writing of the film is interesting with the main character around whom everyone is rallying, wanting her to do her Arangetram, the first major debut performance. "In Tamil, Arang means stage and etram means to get on stage. The idea is that there is no age limit. In this story, the protagonist's mother-in-law and daughter are planning her Arangetram," says Sastry, adding the film was shot in 3-4 days in an apartment in Chennai.

Nowadays, I feel there are a lot of films that are really good, but it is hard to find a film which you can sit with your grandmother and your grandkids to watch. Some of them have darker themes or inappropriate content

Savitha Sastry, Bharatanatyam dancer

The making of the 'family entertainment' was Sastry and Srikanth's quest for having more such films. "Nowadays, I feel there are a lot of films that are really good, but it is hard to find a film which you can sit with your grandmother and your grandkids to watch. Some of them have darker themes or inappropriate content. Cinema seems to be moving into the real world with a lot of greys, but in this movie, there are no greys," says Sastry, adding that one can see the closeness of the family in the film. It also extends to the community around them who cares for the little family.

There are many elements like this that Sastry has added from real life. For example, practising dance in the kitchen while no one else is watching. Even the sarees she wears in the film – which are hard to miss – are from her wardrobe. "I had a few simple sarees which go with the character's personality," she says.

INFECTION & IMMUNISATION

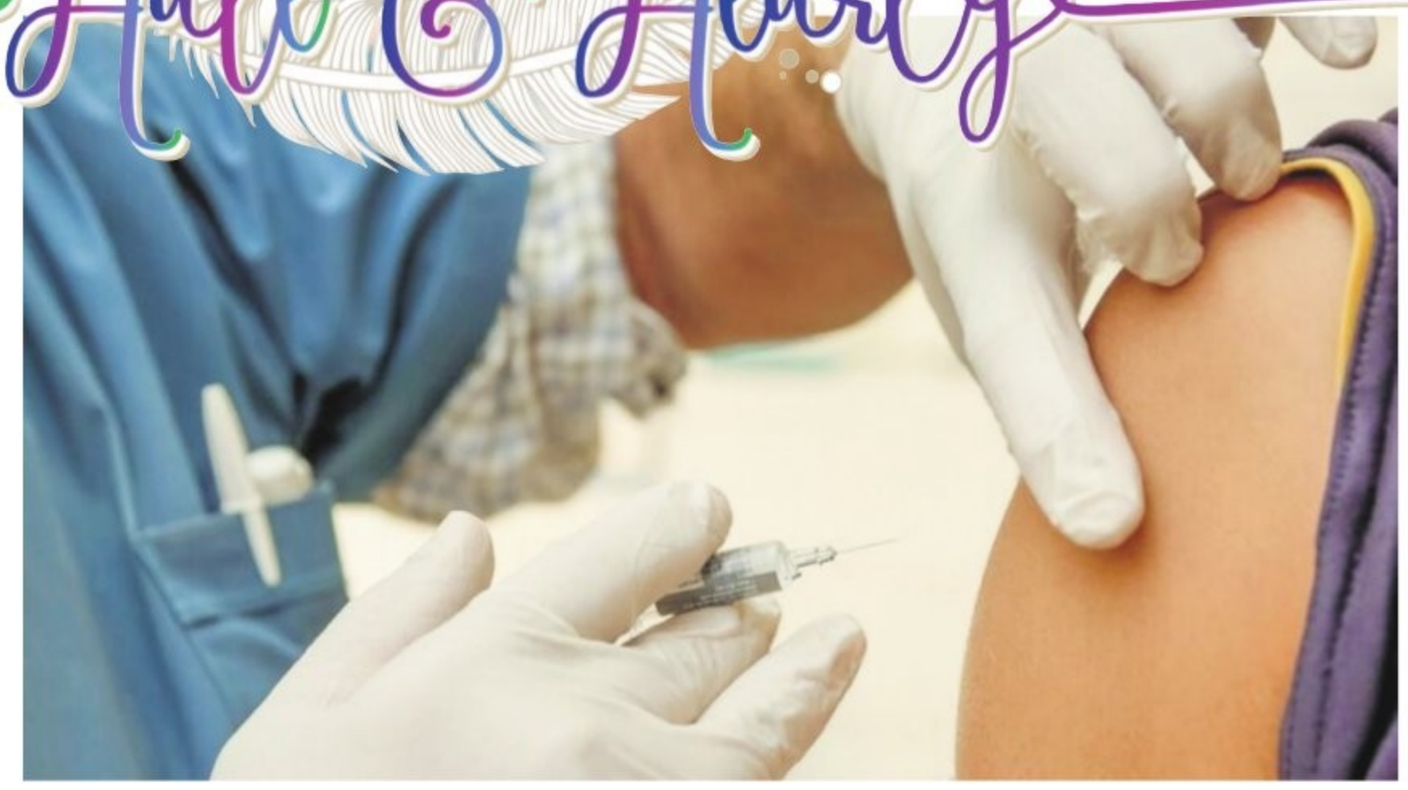
Here's why immunisation is always a safer bet for both children and adults



DR BINDUMATHI P L

IMMUNISATION is one of the tried and tested ways of protecting ourselves, our children, and the future generations from infectious diseases. It basically helps us in the prevention and spread of disease, not only in the current situation but in the future too. It is the most common way of building the immune system of our body even before we fall sick. Infants, children, teenagers, young people, adults, everyone needs immunisations.

Importance of Immunisation

When an infection occurs in an individual, they produce fever, cough, cold, etc. depending on the type of infection. Later, they recover or have complications and death depending on reactions in the body. If the person survives and gets reinfected, symptoms are fewer or no symptoms if an antibody is there. So, infection is introduced into the body by the way vaccine antibodies are produced to protect.

Vaccines can be live, killed, protein, antigen. Certain vaccines are contraindicated for immunodeficiency conditions like HIV. Some develop reactions or allergies. Hence, it is important that vaccinations are to be given with precaution.

Why is immunisation equally important for adults?

It is a common belief that immunisation is required only for children. But it is equally important for adults too. It is a known fact that a lot of adults are prone to disease and vaccination plays a very important role in adults. We may be at risk of disease due to our jobs, lifestyle, travel, and other health conditions. But immunisation plays a very important role in controlling and preventing disease from spreading. Vaccinations help to a great extent in lowering chances of getting certain diseases and suffering from their complications. It works with our body's natural immune system and helps them to fight more effectively. As age advances, antibodies decrease, as in the case of Diphtheria Pneumococcal. In the case of Diphtheria, it is preferred to give a tetanus vaccine. Pneumococcal vaccines are also preferred in elderly adults to prevent serious complications.

Risk factors

Risk factors for developing infections are more in people with diabetes, heart failure, kidney failure, and for smokers. Also, in HIV infected individuals, on dialysis immunosuppressed medications and transplant patients.

Immunisation is one of the prominent, effective means and paths to having improved health. Awareness of immunisation has taken centre stage only during the recent pandemic. It was under the impression that vaccinations were meant only for infants and children. There are myths surrounding vaccinations. The most common of them is that vaccines are not safe, and immunisation multiple times causes the risk of harmful side effects.

The truth is, the licensing of vaccines undergoes exhaustive evaluations and testing to ensure they are safe and effective. Post release of vaccines after approval by the governing bodies like Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP), Food and Drug Administration (FDA), etc.

The prevalence of diphtheria, tetanus, whopping cough, rabies, measles, rubella, mumps, and its complications has decreased drastically over two decades. Hepatitis B complications like Chronic Liver Disease and Hepatocellular Carcinoma, also spread of infection is decreased by Hepatitis B vaccination.

Seasonal influenza is an acute respiratory infection caused by influenza viruses A and B. It is contagious and can spread rapidly. H1N1, also known as swine flu, is a type of influenza A virus, and H1N1 is one of several flu virus strains currently causing seasonal flu across the country. The most effective way to prevent infections is vaccination. Thus, it is advisable for people to take a dose of the seasonal influenza vaccine to protect themselves from H1N1. World Health Organization also recommends pneumococcal, influenza, and diphtheria vaccines along with the Covid-19 vaccine, to prevent morbidity.

To prevent suffering, it is recommended to immunise yourself with the advice of a doctor, for adults and for the elderly.

Early life changes in diet trigger cancers

THE drastic early-life changes in teens and young adults regarding diet, lifestyle, obesity, environment and the microbiome have led to a 'genuine increase' in the incidence of early-onset forms of cancers globally, a Nature research has warned.

Over the past several decades, the incidence of early-onset cancers, often defined as cancers diagnosed in adults less than 50 years of age, in the breast, colorectum, endometrium, oesophagus, extrahepatic bile duct, gallbladder, head and neck, kidney, liver, bone marrow, pancreas, prostate, stomach and thyroid has increased in multiple countries.

"Evidence suggests an aetiological role of risk factor exposures in early life and young adulthood," said the global study published in the journal Nature Reviews Clinical Oncology, and led by researchers at Harvard T H Chan School of Public Health, Boston.

The incidence of cancers of various organs diagnosed in adults less than 50 years of age has been rising in many parts of the world since the 1990s. "The early-onset cancer epidemic might be one manifestation of increasing trends in the development of many chronic diseases in young and future generations," the researchers wrote.

They emphasised that raising awareness of the early-onset cancer epidemic should be our immediate goal. "These are likely to reduce the burden of both early-onset and later-onset cancers," they added. To study early-life exposures and their implications for cancer types will require prospective cohort studies with dedicated bio-banking and data collection technologies, the research noted. -IANS

MISS-FIT

Wanitha Ashok

Wanitha Ashok is a Fit India Movement Ambassador and celebrity fitness coach

1 I am a meat-eater. Is this one of the reasons I am putting on weight?

Nope! You gain weight due to excess calorie consumption, lack of exercise, sedentary lifestyle, sleep and stress. Added to this, there could be some underlying hormonal issues too. Coming to meat, chicken and fish fall under white meat category whereas mutton, beef etc fall under red meat which is not good for your heart due to high saturated fats and cholesterol. Therefore, it's advisable to consume it in moderation.

2 I tried intermittent fasting as you suggested. But my weight is now plateauing. What should I do?

That's nice. However, weight plateaus happen when despite doing everything right, you are unable to see a physiological change in your body. This can be addressed by varying your workouts. For example, if you are walking, I suggest you change the route you take, increase pace and speed, walk longer, and add a mild jog when you add variations. It surprises the body and activates the muscles as a protective mechanism which leads to additional calorie burn. Go ahead and try it.

3 I am usually a healthy eater. But recently, I finished a jar of Nutella as my midnight snack. I feel extremely guilty. What do I do to get over the guilt?

To err is human!! Relax, it happens, it's human to yield to temptation, leave that guilt behind and focus on why you did what you did.

This could have been emotional binging, were you PMSing? If yes, then that could be one of the reasons you attacked it. Nutella is nothing but a sugar bomb and loaded with calories and is not good for your weight or health. Lesson learnt! Have healthier food choices around.

Next time you are eating due to emotional reasons, I suggest you try to exercise as the endorphins can help fix your problem.

NUGGETS

EARLY EXPOSURE TO ANTIBIOTICS MAY AFFECT ADULT GUT HEALTH

Researchers have discovered that early life exposure to antibiotics has long-lasting effects on the nervous system and can lead to gastrointestinal issues. The study observed that antibiotics given to neonatal mice have these long-lasting effects which result in disturbed gastrointestinal function, including the speed of motility through the gut and diarrhoea-like symptoms in adulthood. "Our study shows that antibiotics given after birth could have prolonged effects on the enteric nervous system. This provides further evidence of the importance of microbiota on gut health and could introduce new targets to advance antibiotic treatment to very young children," said Jaime Foong, University of Melbourne in Australia. # 'ANY SUBJECT THAT CONNECTS WITH THE AUDIENCE IS A MASS FILM'

... says Dhananjay, who speaks about his upcoming romantic drama, Monsoon Raaga, and balancing multiple projects

CE FEATURES

EVEN as Dhananjay is shooting for a fight sequence for Hoysala, and looking for a new release date for Once Upon a Time in Jamaligudda, he is also gearing up for the promotion of Head Bush. Amidst this busy schedule, he also has Monsoon Raaga, which is slated for release on September 16.

"I enjoy the creative process of cinema. I want to take back good memories from each film because those will be what we will remember in our later days," says the actor.

Dhananjay has set a precedent by playing a variety of roles and juggling between genres. Monsoon Raaga, his upcoming film with director S Ravindranath, is a romantic drama, and is a collection of love stories taking place in different timelines and situations, and one episode features Rachita Ram and Dhananjay. Talking about his role, Dhananjay shares, "This character of mine has been approached differently. Though I'm portrayed as a rough and tough guy, there is innocence and honesty in him, which is well brought out by the director."

While late Guru Kashyap has penned some fantastic dialogues for the film, the makers have brought together a good cast with Achyuth Kumar, Suhasini, and Yasha Shivakumar. "Music director Anoop Seelin and cinematographer SK Rao have brought life to Monsoon Raaga, and value to this romantic drama," says Dhananjay.

Although Dhananjay mostly works in mass films, the actor cites the examples of Rathnan Prapancha and Badava Rascal as romantic subjects that appealed to the masses. "Any good film, which is strong on emotions and connects with the audience, can be considered a mass film. They are not just about build-ups and action-packed sequences. Any film that manages to reach a large number of audiences is a mass film. Monsoon Raaga will be one such project," he explains.

Delving deep into the philosophy of Monsoon Raaga, Dhananjay says, "Generations change, but emotions are constant, and romance will stay forever. Everyone goes through the process of love and breakups. Monsoon Raaga talks about all this and much more."

Though Monsoon Raaga will be the actor's first collaboration with director Ravindranath and producer Vikhyath, Dhananjay has been familiar with their work. This project also marks his first film with Rachita Ram. "We have been wanting to work together for a project, which finally came through Monsoon Raaga. She is a good actor, who expresses a lot with her eyes. She brings an energetic atmosphere to the sets. We make a good combination, and going forward, we hope to collaborate on more projects," he says.

Dhananjay, who has made a mark in other languages, was part of Allu Arjun-Sukumar's blockbuster hit, Pushpa, and when asked if he would return for the sequel, he says, "I met them both at an awards ceremony recently, but we never spoke about the project. I'm waiting for an update from the director's end."

Sharmiela Mandre to back Balaji Mohan's next, Kaadhal Konjam Thookala

The romantic drama is based on the novel written by Sharada Subramanian

CE FEATURES

BALAJI Mohan's upcoming film, Kaadhal Konjam Thookala, which stars Amala Paul, Kalidas Jayaram, and Dushara Vijayan, goes on floors today. The romantic comedy-drama, based on the novel Make it 2 by Sharada Subramanian, will be shot in and around London.

Backed by noted Kannada actor Sharmiela Mandre, Kaadhal Konjam Thookala, is written by Sharada, and marks the first feature film directorial of Balaji since Maari 2 (2018).

Sharmiela, who turned producer with the Kannada film, Dasara, shares that the team will be camping overseas for a 30-day schedule. The actor-filmmaker clarifies that she is involved in Kaadhal Konjam Thookala just as a producer and not as an actor. "It is not necessary that I should act in the films I produce. In fact, after doing both in Dasara, I understood that this balancing act is a really difficult thing. So I have decided to stay just as the producer for this Tamil film," she says.

Dasara is now in the post-production stages, and she hopes to release it this year. "With Pan India films in trend, nothing is restricted to one particular language. Though my priority has been to produce more Kannada films, I would like to simultaneously venture into other languages as well," she says.

Meanwhile, Sharmiela says that she has been listening to scripts post Gaalipata 2, but has not signed anything. Meanwhile, the actor-producer, mentioned a project with Pawan Kumar, her Gaalipata 2 co-star. "Pawan gets busy with his upcoming directorial and I will be busy with my production venture. So we plan to go on floors in 2023," she says.

> It is not necessary that I should act in the films I produce. In fact, after doing both in Dasara, I understood that this balancing act is a really difficult thing. So I have decided to stay just as the producer for this Tamil film – Sharmiela Mandre, actor/producer
